

Professor Susan D. Carle's teaching and research interests lie primarily in the areas of legal ethics, the history and sociology of the legal profession, employment discrimination, labor and employment law, and torts. In 2001, her paper entitled "From Buchanan to Button: Legal Ethics and the Early NAACP (1910-1920)," received the Association of American Law Schools' Best Scholarly Paper Award. She is editor of a book in the NYU Press Critical America Series, entitled Lawyers' Ethics and the Pursuit of Social Justice (2005), which collects leading work in the emerging field of critical legal ethics scholarship. She served as Visiting Professor of Law at Harvard Law School in spring 2006. She serves on the D.C. Bar Rules of Professional Review Committee, the D.C. Bar Legal Ethics Committee, and the Legal Ethics Advisory Committee of the National Disability Rights Network.
