

Anthony E. Varona
Professor of Law and Director, SJD Program
American University Washington College of Law (WCL)

Professor Varona teaches Contracts, Administrative Law, Media Law, and Introduction to Public Law, and serves as the faculty director of American University's S.J.D. (legal Ph.D.) Program. Before joining the WCL faculty, he was an associate professor of law at Pace Law School in New York. Before that, he served as general counsel and legal director for the Human Rights Campaign, the nation's largest organization devoted to gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) civil rights. He built HRC's legal department, directed its legislative, regulatory, and appellate amicus work, launched national law fellow and pro bono attorney programs, and served as counsel to HRC's board of directors and the organization's corporate, educational, and media initiatives.

Professor Varona taught as an adjunct law professor for three years at Georgetown University, and served as a Wasserstein Fellow at Harvard Law School. He serves on the board of directors of the Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD), and is a member of the Society of American Law Teachers and the Hispanic Bar Association of Washington. He served as the chair of the planning committee for LatCrit XIV (2009), the fourteenth annual Latino/a Critical Legal Theory Conference at American University, and as the liaison to the legal academy for the Hispanics for a Fair Judiciary efforts in support of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Sonia Sotomayor's nomination and confirmation. He has served on the boards of directors of the Human Rights Campaign and the Alliance for Justice, the New York Advisory Board for the American Constitution Society, as founding chairperson of the AIDS Action Council's Legal Advisory Board, and as a member of the Judicial Selection Steering Committee of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

Professor Varona practiced communications law at the Washington offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom, LLP, and Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Ferris, Glovsky & Popeo, PC. He began his legal career as an honors program attorney for the Federal Communications Commission. Having earned his A.B. from Boston College, Professor Varona went on to earn a J.D. from Boston College Law School and an LL.M. from Georgetown University.

Professor Varona's scholarship has included articles concerning civil rights, employment discrimination, hate crimes, and communications law, published in law reviews associated with the College of William & Mary, the Universities of Michigan and Minnesota, and American, Catholic, Georgetown and Stanford Universities. He has lectured widely on these topics, and has appeared as a legal commentator on CNN, Headline News, Fox News Network, Court TV, MSNBC, and in a variety of major daily newspapers and legal periodicals.

Professor Varona serves on the Faculty Review Board of the ADMINISTRATIVE LAW REVIEW, and is a faculty advisor to the WCL Latino/a Law Students Association (LaLSA) and the MODERN AMERICAN. He was named WCL Professor of the Year in 2007, a Rising Legal Star by the Washington Hispanic Bar Association in 2006, and was profiled by the Feminist Law Professors Blog in August 2007 and the NATIONAL LAW JOURNAL in May 2000.
