

The Nuts and Bolts of Doing Human Rights Work

“The Cool Human Rights Work I Did On My Summer Vacation”

Thursday, October 30, 2008

12-1:20 PM, Room: 602

Come hear fellow law students talk about the amazing human rights work they did over summer break. Students will discuss working in the domestic and international spheres, how they got their positions, the best and worst parts of working abroad, and will offer advice on finding a great summer work experience.

Scheduled speakers:

Amalia Greenberg (3L), ACLU Immigrants' Rights Project, San Francisco

Shiwali Patel (2L), Washington Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs, Washington DC

Sara Ramey (2L), Reebok Human Rights Fellow, Amnesty International, Paraguay

Jabeen Reza (2L), Al-Quds University Human Rights Clinic, East Jerusalem

Alvir Sadhwani (2L), Centre for Human Rights and Peace Advocacy, Bemenda, Cameroon

The Center is pleased to introduce its newest lunchtime lecture series, “The Nuts and Bolts of Doing Human Rights Work,” which kicked off this September. The events are all designed to provide a glimpse into the “real-life” experiences and challenges that face human rights practitioners out in the field. Panels will feature students, faculty, and guest speakers who will share their insights and stories.

All are invited to attend and contribute their ideas. Lunch will be served.

This event is co-sponsored with the Office of Career and Professional Development (OCPD), the Office of Public Interest (OPI), and the Women and International Law Program (WILP)
