Professor Jamin Raskin and the Program on Law and Government invite you to a breakfast welcoming our new 2008-09 Fellow in Law and Government, Linda Singer, former Attorney General of the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Singer will describe the Office of the Attorney General of the District of Columbia, define its functions and operations, and discuss her involvement in a wide range of cases as Attorney General.

Professor Singer will be teaching a seminar on “The Role of State Attorneys General: Current Topics in Enforcement” in the Spring 2009 term. Students interested in taking this seminar or learning more about state and local law enforcement for externships or summer and permanent employment will definitely benefit from attending this event.
