

Health Insurance Companies

Below is a list of insurance companies that provide health insurance to J-1 visitors and their dependents. American University does not recommend or endorse these companies. We are merely providing this list for your convenience. You may also want to ask your current private insurance company if they have a plan for overseas travel, as they may offer sufficient coverage as well. When selecting an insurance carrier, you should thoughtfully consider your individual and dependents' needs for health insurance coverage and assess whether a particular health insurance product meets those needs. We strongly recommend that you evaluate a number of companies to find the one that best meets your needs while fulfilling the U.S Department of State (USDS) requirements. USDS regulations (22 CFR 62.14) can be accessed through the Internet at: <http://exchanges.state.gov/education/jexchanges/administration.htm#insurance>.

We strongly encourage you to contact the insurance company before applying for a J-1 visa as it may be a lengthy process.
