

American University
Washington College of Law
October 9-11, 2008

Sixth North American Baha'i Conference on Law*

Exploring the Intersections of Religion and Governance: Past, Present and Future

Speakers

Arash Abizadeh, Associate Professor, Political Science Department, McGill University

Robert Ahdieh, Professor, Emory University School of Law

Padideh Ala'i, Professor, American University, Washington College of Law

Frank Amanat, Supervisory Assistant U.S. Attorney, U.S. Attorney's Office – Eastern District of New York

Abdullahi Ahmed An-Na'im, Charles Howard Candler Professor of Law, Emory University School of Law

Ian Bartrum, Irving S. Ribicoff Fellow, Yale Law School

Suheil Bushrui, Director, Kahlil Gibran Chair for Values and Peace Project, Center for International Development and Conflict Management, University of Maryland

Roshan Danesh, Adjunct Professor, University of British Columbia & Visiting Professor, European Peace University

William Davis, President, DPK Consulting

John Grayzel, Baha'i Chair for World Peace, Center for International Development and Conflict Management, University of Maryland, former Senior Officer USAID.

Jeremy Gunn, Director, Program on Freedom of Religion & Belief, American Civil Liberties Union

David Hunter, Associate Professor & Director, Program on International & Comparative

Environmental Law, American University, Washington College of Law

Michael Karlberg, Associate Professor, Department of Communications, Western Washington University, & Research Affiliate, Institute for Global Prosperity

Ayse Kadayifci-Orellana, Assistant Professor, School of International Service, American University

Frederick Landry, LL.M. (Vanderbilt University), J.D. (University of Melbourne)

Sovaida Ma'ani Ewing, Director, Global Action for Collective Security

Neysun Mahboubi, Visiting Assistant Professor, University of Connecticut School of Law

Patrick Meagher, Senior Fellow, IRIS Center, University of Maryland

Layli Miller-Muro, Executive Director, Tahirih Justice Center

Ileana Porras, Visiting Professor, Watson Institute of International Studies, Brown University

Ezra Rosser, Assistant Professor, American University, Washington College of Law

Abdul Aziz Said, Mohammed Said Farsi Chair of Islamic Peace,
School of International Service, American University (invited)

Josh Sarnoff, Professor & Practitioner-in-Residence, American University, Washington College of Law

Martha Schweitz, Director, Office of Review, Baha'i National Center, and former Professor of International Law, Seinan Gakuin University (Japan) & University of Oregon School of Law

Sheila Snyder, Attorney, Law Offices of Becki L. Young, PLLC

Justin Stein, Associate, Latham & Watkins

Tajan Tober, LL.M. Candidate, Harvard Law School

 *The North American Baha'i Conferences on Law seek to promote new ideas for addressing global problems, with the hope of promoting unity and global justice, while maintaining and respecting a diversity of views, cultures, and beliefs. This goal is inspired by the view that all humankind is one, and all religions and faith traditions are ultimately united, as diverse reflections of one truth. Prior conferences have been held at Columbia Law School, the University of California - Berkeley Law School, and the University of Toronto School of Law.

