

Dean Claudio Grossman,
The Women and the Law Program and the Legal Rhetoric and Writing Program of American University,
Washington College of Law

Cordially Invite You to Our Annual
Feminist Jurisprudence Dinner
Wednesday, March 21, 2007

Please join us to celebrate the launch of our new
Feminist Jurisprudence
Student Essay Competition

5:30 Presentation by 2006 competition winner:
Monica S. Devens

“Wartime Sex Crimes as ‘War Crimes’ and
‘Crimes Against Humanity’:
A Developing International Understanding.”
Washington College of Law, Room 600

6:30 Reception, Keynote Address and Dinner
Washington College of Law, 6th Floor

American University, Washington College of Law
4801 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20016
RSVP (202) 274-4075 or secl@wcl.american.edu

Washington College of Law proudly supports the Women and the Law Program, which brings in speakers, hosts conferences, supports academic work on cutting edge feminist legal thinking, and involves students in advocacy for gender equality. The Women and International Law Program works with scholars and advocates to support the integration of gender into legal education around the world. In addition to our many gender and the law courses for J.D. candidates, Washington College of Law offers advanced LL.M. specializations in Gender and International Law and Gender and U.S. Law and Government.

The Legal Rhetoric and Writing Program is a comprehensive and rigorous program that develops students' fundamental legal skills throughout their law school careers.

Our programs are delighted to, with the support of an anonymous donor, co-sponsor the Feminist Jurisprudence Student Essay competition. Our goal is to foster the next generation of scholars and activists by showcasing creative feminist approaches to the law.