American University Washington College of Law (WCL) announces its 2011 Health Law and Policy Institute. This one-week program will provide J.D. and LL.M. students and practitioners with training in a broad spectrum of health law and policy topics. Custom-developed courses taught by attorneys from private practice, health care organizations, government, and non-governmental organizations will provide an intensive learning experience. The Health Law and Policy Institute is designed for students and lawyers who are practicing or preparing to practice health care law, and offers training in theoretical and practical aspects of health law and policy. WCL's location in the nation's capital also provides students with an opportunity to combine participation in the Institute with exciting externships or summer positions that will enrich their health care law experience. Guest lectures, panel discussions, and other activities involving leading health care attorneys from governmental and non-governmental Washington, D.C., will provide Health Law and Policy Institute participants with dynamic learning and networking opportunities. Institute staff will act as a liaison to select participants interested in learning about internships/externships.
