

CRIMINAL JUSTICE EMPLOYMENT RESOURCE BOOK

WCL Criminal Justice Practice & Policy Institute
criminaljusticeinstitute@wcl.american.edu

UPDATED SPRING 2016

This document is provided for the exclusive use of the students and alumni of Washington College of Law and will be updated on a regular basis.

Introduction

This document is meant as a guide for current WCL students and alums seeking careers in criminal justice. It contains the contact information and hiring practices of employers across various states and jurisdictions that have hired our students in the past. More specifically, this document contains information regarding State and Federal Prosecutors' and Defenders' offices in multiple jurisdictions. This information will help students understand what these employers are looking for, when they start the hiring and interview process, and how they conduct their interviews.

EMPLOYER CHART

Preliminary Employment Tips

Things to do in Law School

Students should focus on doctrinal as well as practical skills courses by taking criminal law, criminal procedure, evidence, and participating in clinic. It is also helpful to take classes or participate in activities that demonstrate an interest in criminal law such as externships, moot court, mock trial, dean's fellowships or a trial advocacy class.

Externships

Many employers are seeking applicants who have demonstrated a commitment to criminal justice. Externships are a great way for students thinking about a career in criminal justice to demonstrate their interest in criminal law and trial advocacy. There are a wealth of options available through the externship office. Each year there is an externship fair in January, as well as a criminal law externship fair early in the fall semester. Contact the externship office to learn more about these events: <https://www.wcl.american.edu/externship/>.

For information about specific criminal law-related externship opportunities, you can go to MyWCL , hover over "Programs & Organizations," and click "Externship Program." Along the left-hand side, you can search externships by practice area to find "criminal law."

<https://my.wcl.american.edu/Departments/Externship%20Program/deptContentManagement/Manage%20Department%20Documents/Externships%20in%20Criminal%20Law.pdf>

Judicial Clerkships

Many public defender offices and prosecutor's offices do not hire right out of law school, often requiring one or more years of experience. A great way of getting this experience is by taking a clerkship with local trial or appellate judges. The various courts and judges differ in their hiring practices. Visit <http://www.wcl.american.edu/career/clerkships/> for more information. Students interested in clerking with a judge should also schedule an appointment on CareerLink with Kelly Noble in the OCPD office to find out important deadlines, hiring practices, and resume building advice.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

United States Department of Justice

Criminal Division

- Background: The mission of the DOJ's Criminal Division is to enforce federal criminal laws; ensure fair and impartial justice through the support and supervision of federal criminal laws; and develop, establish, and implement federal criminal policies.
- Hiring Practices: In addition to using USAjobs.gov, the Criminal Division of the DOJ posts its vacancies at www.justice.gov/criminal/attorney-vacancies. Applicants typically go through at least two rounds of interviewing before a hiring decision is made.
- When they hire: As needed.
- Contacts:
 - Personnel Operations Group
Address: Robert F. Kennedy Building
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Room 2107
Washington, DC 20530
Phone: (202) 514-2811
Email: Criminal.Crmjobs@usdoj.gov

Office of the Attorney General of the United States

- Background: The Attorney General represents the United States in legal matters and gives advice and opinions to the President and to the heads of the executive departments of the Government upon request. Since 1870, the Attorney General has guided the world's largest law office and the central agency for enforcement of federal laws.
- Hiring Practices: Like nearly all of the federal agencies, the Office of the Attorney General posts job announcements directly to USAjobs.gov, which allows applicants to search openings by location or keyword, or with a specific Department of Justice agency. Openings for the entry-level honors program as well as vacancies for experienced attorneys are also posted at <http://www.justice.gov/careers/careers.html>.
- When They Hire: The deadline for the honors program is September 8. General openings are available year round as advertised on USAjobs.gov. Applicants should expect more than one round of interviewing for any given position.

- Contacts:
 - Office of Attorney Recruitment & Management
 - Phone: 202-514-3397
 - Email: AskOARM@usdoj.gov

Office of the Solicitor General

- Background: The task of the Office of the Solicitor General is to supervise and conduct government litigation in the United States Supreme Court. Virtually all such litigation is channeled through the Office of the Solicitor General and is actively conducted by the Office. The United States is involved in approximately two-thirds of all the cases the U.S. Supreme Court decides on the merits each year.
- Hiring Practices: The Office of the Solicitor General (OSG) carries a heavy and important workload with a relatively small legal staff. The Office, therefore, typically hires only attorneys with strong academic records and relevant legal experience, such as a federal judicial clerkship at the appellate level or significant appellate litigation experience.
- When They Hire: Turnover in Assistant positions is also sporadic and often very difficult to predict. There is, therefore, no predictable annual or periodic "hiring cycle."
 - Please visit the Department's Office of Attorney Recruitment and Management's website at <https://www.justice.gov/osg/employment-opportunities> to obtain specific hiring information.

Federal Prosecutor and Defender Offices

United States Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia

- Background: The United States Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia is unique among U.S. Attorney's Offices in the size and scope of its work. It serves as both the local and the federal prosecutor for the nation's capital. On the local side, its prosecutions extend from misdemeanor drug possession cases to murders. On the federal side, its prosecutions extend from child pornography to gangs to financial fraud to terrorism. In both roles, the Office is committed to being responsive and accountable to the citizens of the District of Columbia.
- Hiring Practices: The US Attorney's Office for the District of Columbia hires candidates that have considerable legal and litigation experience. Application requirements for the position can be found here: http://www.justice.gov/usao/dc/programs/employment/ausa_app_requirements.html.
- When they hire: Ongoing. Applicants go through several rounds of interviews before hiring decisions are made.

Federal Public Defender for the District of Columbia

- Background: The Office of the Federal Public Defender for the District of Columbia represents indigent defendants primarily before the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit. Representation includes counsel and investigative, expert, and other services necessary for an adequate defense. They handle caseloads composed of federal misdemeanors, felonies, parole and probation violations, grand jury representations, direct appeals to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, and petitions for writs of certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court.
- Hiring Practices: They do not hire entry-level attorneys. Applicants must have at least three years of experience, preferably in criminal litigation. Judicial clerkship experience is also helpful.
- When to apply: Candidates should look for job openings on the Office's website located at <http://dc.fed.org/vacancy.html>.

The Office accepts internship applications year round, but students should consider the following application deadlines:

Spring Internship – Applications due December 1.
Summer Internship – Applications due February 1.
Fall Internship – Applications due August 1.

Local Public Defender's Offices

Public Defender Service (PDS) of the District of Columbia

- Background: The Public Defender Service for the District of Columbia (PDS) provides and promotes quality legal representation to indigent adults and children facing a loss of liberty in the District of Columbia and thereby protects society's interest in the fair administration of justice. PDS is regarded as one of the best public defender offices—local or federal—in the country.

Hiring Practices: PDS posts a number of job openings, including internships and legal clerkships, at www.pdsdc.org/careers/job-opportunities. For full-time defender positions, PDS is typically looking for applicants with at least a year of post J.D. experience and litigation experience. Applications are available on its website and should be mailed to Jennifer K. Thomas, Legal Recruiting Office. Questions should be directed to Jennifer Thomas at (202) 824-2337 or jenthomas@pdsdc.org.

For its summer or semester law clerks, PDS selects 20-30 applicants per semester. PDS prefers 2L or 3L students, although 1L students with relevant experience are encouraged to apply. This position is unpaid. In the summer, PDS offers its clerks a week-long substantive training class, as well as a trial advocacy skills building series taught by experienced trial attorneys.

- When they hire: PDS hires pre-bar. It makes offers early during the second semester of the applicant's last year of law school, so interested candidates should apply in the early fall. They usually hire 6 to 10 attorneys per year. PDS requires 3L students to sit for the first available D.C. bar exam.

MARYLAND

Federal Prosecutor and Defender Offices

U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Maryland

- Background: The U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Maryland prosecutes federal crimes charged in Maryland. Its two offices are located in Baltimore and Greenbelt.
- Hiring Practices: Information about open Assistant U.S. Attorney (AUSA) positions can be found at www.justice.gov/usao/district/md. For AUSA positions, DOJ is looking for applicants with a J.D. degree and at least two years of post-J.D. experience. Litigation experience is strongly preferred. Also, because many AUSA handle their own appeals, strong oral and written advocacy skills can be helpful in the position.

All AUSA vacancies nationwide can be searched at www.justice.gov/usao/career-center/job-openings. The Attorney General's Honors Program (www.justice.gov/legal-careers/entry-level-attorneys) is the only way for new attorneys (i.e., third-year law students and students who enter judicial clerkships, graduate law programs, or qualifying fellowships within 9 months of law school graduation) to enter DOJ in an attorney position.

State and Local Public Defender Offices

Maryland Office of the Public Defender

- Background: With over 900 employees (570 attorneys), the Maryland Office of the Public Defender (OPD) is the largest legal services organization in the state. Through its twelve district offices and seven specialized divisions, the Office provides legal services to indigent defendants. Each District conforms to the statutory geographic boundaries of the Maryland District Courts. Representation is provided in District Courts, Juvenile Courts, Circuit Courts, judicial bail reviews and related collateral hearings, Children in Need of Assistance (CINA) and termination of parental rights (TPR) cases.
- Hiring Practices: Vacancies are announced at <http://www.opd.state.md.us/opd/AboutOPD/Careers/AttorneyPositions.aspx>. OPD recruits entry-level attorneys to serve as Assistant Public Defenders in District Court two times a year. These attorneys serve as Assistant Public Defenders (APD I) at various locations throughout the State of Maryland and typically begin with OPD in the Spring (March) and the Fall (September).

- When to Apply: Two rounds of hiring throughout the year. Applications for Spring should be submitted before the end of January, and applications for the Fall round of interviewing should be submitted by August 1.

VIRGINIA

Federal Prosecutor and Defender's Offices

United States Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Virginia

- Background: The United States Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Virginia serves more than 6 million residents living in Northern Virginia, Richmond, and Tidewater and its surrounding communities.

As part of the U.S. Department of Justice, the Office is responsible for virtually all federal litigation in Virginia's Eastern District. This includes criminal prosecutions for violations of federal law, civil lawsuits by and against the government, and actions to collect judgments and restitution on behalf of victims and taxpayers.

- Hiring Practices: Information about open Assistant U.S. Attorney (AUSA) positions can be found at www.justice.gov/usao/vae/jobs.html. For AUSA positions, DOJ is looking for applicants with a J.D. degree and at least two years of post-J.D. experience. Litigation experience is strongly preferred. Because many AUSA handle their own appeals, strong oral and written advocacy skills can be helpful in the position. All AUSA vacancies nationwide can be searched at www.justice.gov/usao/career-center/job-openings/attorneys. Office of the Federal Public Defender for the Eastern District of Virginia

- Background: The Office of the Federal Public Defender for the Eastern District of Virginia was established in 2001 and is dedicated to the defense of indigent clients charged with federal offenses. Its caseload ranges from petty offenses to the defense of complex felony prosecutions. The Eastern District of Virginia is one of two districts in the state and includes 43 of the state's 95 counties. The Eastern District of Virginia includes the Northern Virginia area, the greater Richmond area, and the Tidewater region of Virginia. Court locations are found in Alexandria, Newport News, Norfolk, and Richmond.
- Hiring Practices: As of 11/08/2015, the Office has no job openings. However, new employment opportunities are posted at vae.fd.org/content/employment. They also hire summer and school-year interns in all of their offices found at vae.fd.org/internship-program. For its entry-level Assistant Public Defenders positions, the office is seeking candidates with at least two years of litigation experience, exemplary academic records, strong legal research and writing skills, and a demonstrated commitment to public service.

COLORADO

State & Local Public Defender's Offices

Colorado Public Defender's Office

- Background: The Colorado State Public Defender is a statewide agency dedicated to providing quality representation to each and every client in the 21 regional trial offices. The system employs 420 lawyers and a total staff of 656.
- Hiring Practices: The majority of this Office's new hires are entry-level attorneys, and placements are made as positions become available in regional offices, normally through attrition. From the website: "The Colorado Public Defender prides itself on hiring client-centered applicants who are dedicated to protecting the constitutional rights of the underprivileged who are accused of crimes. This Office conducts over 1,100 jury trials each year; therefore strong hiring preference is given to applicants who have participated in a law school clinical program or interned for a public defender program where they were actually able to represent clients in court. This Office hires few applicants who have not participated in one or both. Additionally, since this Office has an extensive and mandatory training program for newly hired attorneys (see our training page), a proven desire and ability to improve and expand an applicant's trial skills is also given preference." The Office's website is located at <http://pdweb.coloradodefenders.us>.
- When to Apply: Interviews for applicants taking the February or July Colorado bar examination are conducted in November, December and January, with hiring decisions announced no later than March for June graduates. Accordingly, candidates should apply in the early fall.

NEW YORK

State & Local Prosecutor's Offices

New York County (Manhattan) District Attorney's Office

- Background: The New York County District Attorney's Office handles all prosecutions of crimes charged in New York County (Manhattan).
- Hiring Practices: Each year more than 2,000 law school graduates and admitted attorneys apply for positions as Assistant District Attorneys (ADAs). There are typically 30-40 openings each year for legal staff positions. Most of the staff is hired directly out of law school, while some of the staff join the office as laterals or after clerking.

New ADAs commit themselves to serving the office for three years. Most stay well beyond their commitment. Traditionally, the new class joins the Office several weeks after taking the bar examination. After completing a six-week orientation and training program, ADAs begin work in their bureaus.

- When to Apply: Applications are accepted from August 1st through October 1st. All submissions must be submitted by 5:00 pm (EST). All applications must be submitted online. Applicants will be required to attach a cover letter, resume, law school transcript, writing sample, and the names and telephone numbers of three professional references. Only complete applications are reviewed. Cover letters should be addressed to:

Office of the Bronx County District Attorney

- Background: The Office of the Bronx District Attorney prosecutes crimes charged within the boundaries of the Bronx. The Office is made up of the District Attorney and over 300 Assistant District Attorneys.
- Hiring Practices: Applicants must have a J.D. degree, be members of the New York Bar, and have a strong academic record. A demonstrated interest in public service and criminal litigation are highly valued in candidates.
- When to Apply: The Office hires new attorneys each year. Some of these new prosecutors are practicing lawyers who are appointed as vacancies develop. Most vacancies, however, are filled from the ranks of more than 1,000 third-year law students who complete a three-tier interview process both on law school campuses and within the Office. Law school students interested in applying for Assistant District Attorney positions must apply by October 20th of their last year of study.

First-round interviews are conducted by selected individual Assistant District Attorneys and are generally conducted from August through October. Upon successful completion of the first interview, the applicant may be invited to return for a panel interview, generally conducted in October and November. The final interview is with District Attorney Johnson in December.

State & Local Public Defender's Offices

The Legal Aid Society, Criminal Practice

- Background: The Legal Aid Society's Criminal Practice, under the leadership of Seymour W. James, Jr., is the largest public defender program in the country and serves as the primary provider of indigent defense services in New York City. The Criminal Practice handles a total of more than 230,000 cases each year with a staff of 800, including approximately 550 staff attorneys, supervising attorneys and management attorneys and nearly 270 social workers, investigators, paralegals, and support and administrative staff.
- Hiring Practices: Information about the firm's hiring practices and openings can be found at: <http://www.legal-aid.org/en/las/diversityandcareers.aspx>. Applications are submitted electronically via the website. The Criminal Practice generally hires 25 to 50 people for its fall class, hiring 3Ls/law graduates pre-bar, as long as the law graduate sits for the New York State Bar immediately after graduation. New hires may be assigned to any of New York's five boroughs.
- When to Apply: Hiring and Application deadlines for entry-level positions can be found at http://www.legal-aid.org/media/193764/2015-2016_staff_attorney_legal_intern_hiring_season_deadlines.pdf. The deadline for applications for criminal practice attorneys is October 12, 2015 for the Class of Fall 2016. Limited hiring may occur in the spring if vacancies occur.

The Bronx Defenders

- Background: The Bronx Defenders provides criminal defense for low-income defendants in the Bronx. Over the last 15 years the office has grown to represent nearly 28,000 people per year. The Bronx Defenders works through interdisciplinary teams comprised of criminal defense attorneys, family defense attorneys, civil attorneys, social workers, advocates, and investigators in order to address not just the immediate legal case, but the host of issues that drive our clients into the justice systems and destabilize their lives.

Hiring Practices: Each fall, The Bronx Defenders seeks applications from third-year law students and recent law school graduates (1-3 years of experience) who are interested in placement on the following year's Training Team in either the Criminal Defense Practice, Civil Action Practice, or Family Defense Practice.

- When to Apply: The application process begins in the Summer/Fall, with employment offers usually made by February.

The Bronx Defenders is no longer accepting applications for the 2016-2017 Training Team, but applications are generally available from August to October. Hiring Committee interviews take place at the end of November and beginning of December. For more information, see www.bronxdefenders.org/get-involved/employment/.

PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia District Attorney's Office

- Background: The Philadelphia District Attorney's Office is the largest prosecutor's office in Pennsylvania and one of the largest in the nation. It serves the more than 1.5 million citizens of the City and County of Philadelphia, employing 600 lawyers, detectives and support staff. It is organized into six divisions: Executive/Administration, Trials, Investigations, Juvenile, Law, and Special Operations. The District Attorney's Office is responsible for prosecution of over 75,000 criminal cases yearly.
- Hiring Practices: Presently the Office has over 300 lawyers on staff. Each year the Office hires recent law school graduates (or judicial law clerks) for its incoming fall class. Interviews for permanent hires for the incoming fall class begin in mid-September and conclude in December. For detailed information regarding the office's hiring practices, visit: http://www.phila.gov/districtattorney/careers_ThirdYearStudents.html

Philadelphia Public Defender's Office

- Background: The Defender Association of Philadelphia represents approximately seventy percent of all persons arrested in the city of Philadelphia. Assistant Defenders rotate their assignments through the nine units or divisions within the office.
- Hiring Practices: The Defender Association mentors new attorneys with the expectation that they will develop into seasoned and skilled trial lawyers. For this reason, the office requires a three-year commitment from each new attorney. The Defender Association will accept a cover letter, resume and transcript as an application from all Pennsylvania barred attorneys and/or from all third year law students who plan on taking the Pennsylvania Bar immediately after graduation. The Defender Association is particularly interested in those attorneys and prospective attorneys who have demonstrated interest in trial and/or indigent advocacy. Visit: <http://www.philadefender.org/attorney.php> for more information and for a link to the Defender Association's online application.
- When to Apply: The deadline for applications is November 15 for the next September class of Assistant Defenders.

OTHER EMPLOYMENT RESOURCES

Criminal Law Job Websites

Association of Prosecuting Attorneys (APA)

- Background: The Association of Prosecuting Attorneys (APA) was founded as a national "think tank" to represent all prosecutors and provide additional resources such as training and technical assistance in an effort to develop proactive innovative prosecutorial practices that prevent crime, ensure equal justice and make our communities safer.
- Website: APA periodically posts prosecutor or prosecutorial related job openings on its website located at www.apainc.org/membership/international-opportunities/.

American Bar Association Criminal Justice Section

- Background: The Criminal Justice Section has primary responsibility for the American Bar Association's work on solutions to issues involving crime, criminal law, and the administration of criminal and juvenile justice. The Section plays an active leadership role in bringing the views of the ABA to the attention of federal and state courts, Congress, and other federal and state judicial, legislative, and executive policy-making bodies. The Section also serves as a resource to its members on issues in the forefront of change in the criminal justice arena.
- Website: The ABA posts criminal law resources on the website for its criminal justice section: http://www.americanbar.org/groups/criminal_justice/resources.html.

National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers (NACDL)

- Background: The National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers (NACDL) encourages, at all levels of federal, state and local government, a rational and humane criminal justice policy for America – one that promotes fairness for all; due process for even the least among us who may be accused of wrongdoing; compassion for witnesses and victims of crime; and just punishment for the guilty.
- Website: NACDL posts criminal law jobs on its website located at <https://www.nacdl.org/about/employment/>.

National District Attorney's Association (NDAA)

- Background: In 1950, local prosecutors formed NDAA to give a focal point to advance their causes and issues at the national level. NDAA representatives regularly meet with the Department of Justice, members of Congress, and other national associations to represent the views of prosecutors to influence federal and national policies and programs that affect law enforcement and prosecution.
- Website: NDAA posts prosecutor positions on its website located at: www.ndaa.org/employment_home.html.

National Legal Aid and Defender Organization (NLADA)

- Background: National Legal Aid & Defender Association (NLADA), founded in 1911, is America's oldest and largest nonprofit association devoted to excellence in the delivery of legal services to those who cannot afford counsel. NLADA serves as the collective voice for our country's civil legal aid and public defender services and provides advocacy, training, technical assistance and the NLADA Insurance Program to its members, who are comprised of legal professionals, institutions and the people they represent.
- Website: NLADA posts a comprehensive list of public defender services and job openings in each state on its website located at: <http://www.nlada.org/Jobs>.

Criminal Law Fellowships

E. Barrett Prettyman and Stuart Stiller Fellowship

- Background: Georgetown University's Juvenile Justice Clinic offers a two-year graduate fellowship each year. The goal of the fellowship is to provide quality representation to adults and adolescents accused of crimes and to provide to recent law school graduates a comprehensive education concerning trial advocacy, litigation and clinical teaching. Fellows spend two years in the program, after which they are awarded a Masters Degree in Advocacy. During the first year, fellows try cases and develop their skills as clinical teachers. In the second year, they continue to represent clients and supervise third year law students in the Juvenile Justice Clinic.
- When to apply: Applications for The E. Barrett Prettyman and Stuart Stiller Fellowship Program will become available on August 1, 2016 for submission from September 1, 2016 through November 3, 2016. Applications will not be accepted after the deadline of November 3, 2016. The application can be found here:

<http://apps.law.georgetown.edu/forms/index.cfm?formid=150>.

Gideon's Promise Law School Partnership Program

- Background: Gideon's Promise is an organization dedicated to assuring that every individual receives adequate legal representation regardless of economic status as mandated in the landmark U.S. Supreme Court case Gideon vs. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 (1963). In the Law School Partnership Project, Law Schools provide salary support to graduates seeking employment as public defenders. Gideon's Promise provides the training and promises to place graduates in public defender offices across the South. The office guarantees that, within the first year, the graduate will be moved into a full-time position. The Project helps graduates secure permanent employment and acquire the training and support they need to become public defenders.
- When to Apply: Applications for the Gideon's Promise Fellowship should be submitted by October 20. The packet is to include the Gideon's Promise application, the candidate's resume and transcript. A writing sample is optional. For more information, visit: www.gideonspromise.org/programs/lsp.
