

NEXT STEPS IN HEALTH REFORM 2017

October 26 - 28 | Washington, D.C.

www.wcl.american.edu/events/aslme conferences@aslme.org

HEALTH LAW & POLICY PROGRAM

SPEAKER BIOS

WELCOMING REMARKS

Camille A. Nelson

Dean, American University Washington College of Law

Camille Nelson has long been an outstanding member of the law community before her recent appointment as Dean of the Washington College of Law. She has previously served as the Dean of Suffolk University's School of Law in Boston and was a Professor of Law at Hofstra Law School. Dean Nelson was also a Dean's Scholar in Residence and visiting Professor of Law at the Washington University in St. Louis School of Law. Dean Nelson was the first Black woman to clerk for the Supreme Court of Canada, the first woman and person of color to have been appointed dean at Suffolk University Law School, and the first Black person to be appointed dean at American University Washington College of Law. She is a member of the Governing Council of the American Bar Association Center for Innovation and the Executive Committee of the Association of American Law Schools.

Follow on Twitter: @AUWCLDean

Vicky Wilkins

Interim Dean, American University School of Public Affairs

Vicky M. Wilkins is the Interim Dean of the School of Public Affairs and Professor of Public Administration and Policy at American University. Her primary research interests include representative bureaucracy; bureaucratic discretion; gender and race issues; deservingness; political institutions and human resource management. Dean Wilkins earned her BS in Political Science and History from Northern Michigan University, her MS in Human Resource Management from Chapman University, and her PhD in political science from the University of Missouri.

Follow on Twitter: @VickyWilkins1

John Delaney

Dean, American University Kogod School of Business

John T. Delaney is Professor of Management and Dean of the Kogod School of Business at American University. He is widely recognized for his scholarship in negotiation, dispute resolution, and labor-management relations. He has given expert testimony to the National Labor Relations Board and the Subcommittee on Labor of the U.S. Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources and has regularly served on business school accreditation review committees for the AACSB.

Ted Hutchinson

Executive Director, American Society of Law, Medicine, and Ethics

In 2009, Ted Hutchinson was appointed Executive Director of the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics. He also serves as the Editor of the Journal of Law, Medicine & Ethics, and oversees all of the publishing activities of ASLME. Mr. Hutchinson graduated with honors from Providence College and received a Master's Degree in history from Tufts University. In addition to his work with ASLME, he serves on the editorial boards of the Cambridge Dictionary of Bioethics and the journal Finest Hour. His scholarly and popular writings have appeared in many publications. Follow on Twitter: @ehutch01

PLENARY SESSION 1

HEALTH REFORM: PERSPECTIVE FROM A PURPLE STATE

Lindsay F. Wiley

Professor of Law and Director of the Health Law and Policy Program, American University Washington College of Law and President, American Society of Law, Medicine, and Ethics

Lindsay F. Wiley, JD, MPH teaches torts, health law, and public health law. Her research focuses on access to health care and healthy living conditions in the U.S. and globally. She is the author of Public Health Law: Power, Duty, Restraint (3d. ed. with L. O. Gostin, 2016) and the forthcoming Public Health Law and Ethics: A Reader (3d. ed. under contract with U.C. Press). Professor Wiley is President-Elect of the American Society of Law, Medicine, and Ethics, having served as a member of the Board of Directors since 2015. From 2014-2017 she served as an appointed member of the National Conference of Lawyers and Scientists. In 2016 she was awarded AUWCL's Innovation in Teaching Award. In 2015 she was awarded AUWCL's Elizabeth Payne Cubberly Scholar Award. In 2012, she was selected as one of four emerging health law scholars by the American Society of Law, Medicine, and Ethics and St. Louis University. Wiley received her AB and JD, magna cum laude, from Harvard, where she served on the Harvard Law Review, and her MPH from Johns Hopkins.

Follow on Twitter: @ProfLWiley

Mandy Cohen

Secretary, North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services

Secretary of the N.C. Department of Health and Human Services Mandy Cohen, MD, MPH, and her team work tirelessly to improve the health, safety and well-being of North Carolinians. Among her top priorities are combating the opioid crisis, building a strong, efficient Medicaid program, and improving early childhood education. Secretary Cohen has called on clinicians across the state to assist in fighting the opioid epidemic. In May, she began a multi-city tour of listening sessions to hear feedback from residents on Medicaid and NC Health Choice transformation. Cohen is an internal medicine physician and has experience leading complex health organizations. Before coming to the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services she was the Chief Operating Officer and Chief of Staff at the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). She brings a deep understanding of health care to the state and has been responsible for implementing policies for Medicare, Medicaid, the Children's Health Insurance Program and the Federal Marketplace. A graduate of Cornell University, she received her medical degree from Yale School of Medicine, a Master's in Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health and trained in Internal Medicine at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Follow on Twitter: @SecMandyCohen

PLENARY SESSION 2

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN HEALTH REFORM

Abbe Gluck

Professor of Law, Yale Law School

Abbe R. Gluck is a Professor of Law and the Faculty Director of the Solomon Center for Health Law and Policy at Yale Law School. She joined Yale Law School in 2012, having previously served on the faculty of Columbia Law School. She is an expert on Congress and the political process, federalism, civil procedure, and health law, and is the chair emerita of Section on Legislation and the Law of the Political Process for the Association of American Law Schools. Prior to law school, she worked in the U.S. Senate for Senator Paul S. Sarbanes of Maryland. Before returning to government work after law school, Professor Gluck was associated with the Paul Weiss firm in New York. Professor Gluck currently serves on numerous boards and commissions, including as an appointed member of both the Uniform Law Commission and the New York State Taskforce on Life and the Law, and as an elected member of the American Law Institute. In 2015, Gluck received the Law School's teaching award. Follow on Twitter: @YaleAG

Allison K. Hoffman

Professor of Law, University of Pennsylvania Law School

Allison Hoffman, an expert on health care law and policy, is a Professor of Law at University of Pennsylvania Law School, having until this year served on the faculty at UCLA School of Law. Professor Hoffman's work examines some of the most important legal and social issues of our time, including health insurance regulation, the Affordable Care Act, Medicare and retiree healthcare expenses, and Medicaid and long-term care. She is co-editor of the Oxford Handbook of U.S. Health Law (2007) and chairs the Insurance Law Section of the Association of American Law Schools. Professor Hoffman has extensive experience working as a lawyer and business consultant in the health care industry. She practiced law at Ropes & Gray, LLP, where she counseled clients on health care regulatory matters. She has also provided strategic business advice to health care companies as a consultant at The Boston Consulting Group and The Bridgespan Group. Immediately prior to joining the faculty at UCLA, she was a fellow at Harvard's Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics.

Timothy Jost

Professor Emeritus, Washington and Lee University School of Law

Jost retired as the Robert L. Willett Family Professorship of Law at the Washington and Lee University School of Law. He is a co-author of a casebook, Health Law, used widely throughout the United States in teaching health law, and of a treatise and hornbook by the same name. He is also the author of Health Care Coverage Determinations: An International Comparative Study; Disentitlement? The Threats Facing our Public Health Care Programs and a Rights-Based Response; and Readings in Comparative Health Law and Bioethics, the second edition of which appeared this spring. He has also written numerous articles and book chapters on health care regulation and comparative health law and policy, and has lectured on health law topics throughout the world. His most recent book is Health Care at Risk: A Critique of the Consumer-Driven Movement, which was published by Duke University Press in 2007.

Sheila Lieber

Former Deputy Director, Civil Division, U.S. Department of Justice

Sheila Lieber recently retired as Deputy Director, Civil Division, U.S. Department of Justice. She graduated from Georgetown University Law School and joined the Justice Department in 1978 under the Honors Program. She served as Deputy Director in the Civil Division, Federal Programs Branch of the Justice Department for 30 years. As Deputy Director, Lieber was responsible for supervising the defense in federal district courts across the country of all the major challenges to the statutes, regulations, and programmatic decisions of the Department of Health and Human Services. This included the initial Commerce and Spending Clause challenges to the Affordable Care Act and subsequent cases concerning state participation in health insurance exchanges, contraceptive coverage regulations, House v. Burwell, and the other post-NFIB challenges. Lieber has also supervised and personally handled numerous challenges to Medicaid waivers and state plan amendment approvals and denials.

Timothy Westmoreland

Professor from Practice, Georgetown University Law Center, former Counsel, House of Representatives Subcommittee on Health and the Environment, and former Director, Center for Medicaid and State Operations, Health Care Financing Administration

Since 2001, Professor Westmoreland has taught at Georgetown about health law, about federal budgets, and about legislation. Prior to that, he was the senior policy fellow at the Federal Legislation Clinic. He has worked extensively on public health and health finance policy. He has served as Counsel to the Subcommittee on Health and the Environment in the U.S. House of Representatives and later as the Director of the Medicaid program at HHS. Outside of government, he served as counsel to the Advisory Committee on Tobacco Policy and Public Health and as an advisor to both the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation and the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation. He has been the recipient of a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Investigator in Health Policy Award, working on budget process and health policy.

Sarah Dash

President and CEO, Alliance for Health Policy

Sarah joined the Alliance for Health Policy in April 2014 as vice president for policy. Prior to joining the Alliance, she was a member of the research faculty at the Georgetown University Health Policy Institute in the Center on Health Insurance Reforms. She has also served as a senior health policy aide on Capitol Hill. She received her master's degree in public health from Yale University and a bachelor of science from MIT. Follow on Twitter: @SarahJDash

CONCURRENT SESSION 1A: HEALTH CARE DELIVERY AND PAYMENT REFORM: GLOBAL PAYMENT AND PROVIDER INCENTIVES

Joseph Antos

Resident Scholar, Wilson S. Taylor Scholar in Health Care and Retirement Policy, American Enterprise Institute

Joseph Antos is the Wilson H. Taylor Scholar in Health Care and Retirement Policy at the American Enterprise Institute (AEI), where his research focuses on the economics of health policy — including the Affordable Care Act, Medicare, the uninsured, and the overall reform of the health care system and its financing. He also studies the impact of health care expenditures on federal budget policy. Before joining AEI, Antos was assistant director for health and human resources at the Congressional Budget Office (CBO). He has also held senior positions in the US Department of Health and Human Services, the Office of Management and Budget, and the President's Council of Economic Advisers. He served a seven-year term as health adviser to CBO, and two terms as a commissioner of the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission. In 2013, he was also named adjunct associate professor of emergency medicine at George Washington University. Follow on Twitter: @joeantos

Gwendolyn Roberts Majette

Associate Professor, Cleveland-Marshall College of Law

Gwendolyn Roberts Majette received her undergraduate degree from Emory University, her J.D. from the George Washington University School of Law, and her LL.M. in Global Health, with distinction from Georgetown University Law Center. Professor Majette's scholarship focuses on patients' rights, delivery system reform, and health care reform. Her scholarship has been cited in a leading health law text and relied on by the United States Commission for Civil Rights, the Department of Health and Human Services, and the World Health Organization. From 2016 – 2017, Professor Majette served as an expert advisor to the Co-Chair of the Massachusetts

Special Commission on Provider Price Variation. In 2015, she served on the executive team of a public corporation as the Director of Policy for a state-based exchange. Additionally, Professor Majette worked on Medicare, Medicaid, and Health Care Reform policy as a Congressional Legislative Fellow with the United States Congress.

Aditi P. Sen

Assistant Professor, Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health

Aditi P. Sen is a health economist and assistant professor in the Department of Health Policy and Management at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Her research addresses the potential of innovative payment and delivery models, as well as insurance design, to improve the quality and value of health care. Specifically, she is interested in how varying financial, behavioral, and organizational incentives impact provider behaviors, including the “disadoption” of low-value services, prescription of high-price drugs, and provision of mental health services. She served for a year on the staff of the White House's Council of Economic Advisers. Dr. Sen received her B.A. from Yale University and her Ph.D. in health economics from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Follow on

Twitter: @aditipsen

Matthew J. B. Lawrence

Assistant Professor of Law, Pennsylvania State University Dickinson School of Law

Lawrence teaches Health Law and Administrative Law at Dickinson Law, Pennsylvania State University, where he is an Assistant Professor of Law and holds a joint appointment at Penn State College of Medicine. He previously taught a course at Harvard Law School on “Law and Medicine: The Affordable Care Act” while an academic fellow at the Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Bioethics and Biotechnology. Lawrence also has deep federal government experience, having worked on healthcare regulatory issues during the Obama and Trump administrations as attorney advisor in the Executive Office of the President, Office of Management and Budget, Office of General Counsel and as a trial attorney in the Federal Programs Branch of the Civil Division of the United States Department of Justice. In 2016 he received an individual special commendation award for his defense of lawsuits challenging ACA and Medicare programs at DOJ. Lawrence’s scholarship has been published in the NYU Law Review, University of Cincinnati Law Review, Fordham Law Review, and Indiana Law Journal. He began his legal career as a law clerk to the Honorable Douglas Ginsburg on the United States Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit.

Follow: @mjblawrence

Kirk Nahra

Partner, Wiley Rein LLP and Adjunct Professor, American University Washington College of Law

Mr. Nahra is a partner with Wiley Rein LLP in Washington, D.C., where he specializes in privacy and information security litigation and counseling, along with a variety of health care and compliance issues. He is chair of the firm’s Privacy Practice and co-chair of its Health Care Practice. He provides advice on data breaches, enforcement actions, contract negotiations, business strategy, research and de-identification issues and privacy, data security and cybersecurity compliance. He also works with insurers and health care industry participants in developing compliance programs and defending against government investigations. Follow on

Twitter: @KirkJNahrawork

CONCURRENT SESSION 1B

THE FUTURE OF MEDICAID AND CHIP: COMPETING PRIORITIES

Sara Rosenbaum

Professor of Law and Public Health, George Washington University

Sara Rosenbaum J.D. is the Harold and Jane Hirsh Professor of Health Law and Policy and Founding Chair of the Department of Health Policy at the Milken Institute School of Public Health, George Washington University. She also holds professorships in the Trachtenberg School of Public Policy and Public Administration and the Schools of Law and Medicine and Health Sciences. A graduate of Wesleyan University and Boston University Law School, Professor Rosenbaum has devoted her career to issues of health justice for populations who are medically underserved as a result of race, poverty, disability, or cultural exclusion. An honored teacher and scholar, a highly popular speaker, and a widely-read writer on many aspects of health law and policy, Professor Rosenbaum has emphasized public engagement as a core element of her professional life. Among other honors, Professor Rosenbaum is a member of the National Academy of Medicine and was a founding Commissioner of the Congressional Medicaid and CHIP Payment and Access Commission (MACPAC), serving as its chair from January 2016 through April 2017, when her 7-year term completed.

Liz McCuskey

Associate Professor, University of Toledo School of Law

Liz McCuskey is a Visiting Professor at Saint Louis University's Center for Health Law Studies and an Associate Professor at the University of Toledo College of Law, where she directs the University's Health Law program and JD/MD and JD/MPH joint-degree programs. Her research examines health law's federalism angles and courts' roles in implementing policy, particularly through waiver and preemption. She was selected as a 2016 Health Law Scholar by ASLME and Saint Louis University School of Law.

Professor McCuskey teaches Health Law, Health Care Finance & Business Planning, and Food & Drug Law. Before entering academia, she managed a public benefits clinic with Philadelphia Legal Assistance and practiced law with Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP, where she litigated antitrust, appellate, and attorney-general fraud cases for health care clients.

Elizabeth Taylor

Executive Director, National Health Law Program

Elizabeth G. Taylor is the executive director of the National Health Law Program. Based in NHeLP's Washington office, Elizabeth leads a nationally recognized legal nonprofit dedicated to protecting and advancing the health rights of low income and underserved individuals.

Elizabeth has spent her career advancing justice both in the courtroom and the board room. She joined NHeLP from the U.S. Department of Justice, where she served for three years as Principal Deputy Associate Attorney General during the first and second terms of the Obama Administration. While at DOJ, Elizabeth helped develop federal policy and litigation strategy regarding several federal health care initiatives, including the Affordable Care Act and emergency contraceptives. She also led negotiations on cases arising from the mortgage crisis and reviewed agency policies implementing the Supreme Court decision striking down the Defense of Marriage Act. Prior to entering the federal government, Elizabeth was a partner for 15 years at the Washington, DC, law firm

Zuckerman Spaeder, where she litigated civil and criminal cases in federal and state courts across the country. Follow on Twitter: @elizgtaylor

David Cade

CEO, American Health Lawyers Association, former Deputy General Counsel, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

David S. Cade is the Executive Vice President/CEO of the American Health Lawyers Association (AHLA), the nation's largest nonpartisan educational organization devoted to legal issues in the health care field. The Association's more than 13,500 members practice in a variety of settings in the health care community. He joined AHLA in March 2015. Mr. Cade's broad leadership experience in the health law profession includes a 14-year role as Deputy General Counsel at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), where he supported program policy and developed legal positions to expand health insurance and coverage options for Medicare beneficiaries, as well as established creative solutions to support Medicaid program expansions. During his 28 year career at HHS, he also served as the Acting General Counsel and he was the Director of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Family and Children's Health Programs Group and Acting Deputy Director of the Medicaid Bureau. Mr. Cade also served as a working group member of the Clinton White House Task Force on Health Care Reform.

Lewis Grossman

Professor of Law, American University Washington College of Law

Lewis Grossman is Professor of Law at the Washington College of Law, where he has taught since 1997 and where he served as Associate Dean for Scholarship from 2008 to 2011. Professor Grossman is on sabbatical during academic year 2017-18, serving as a Law and Public Affairs (LAPA) Fellow at Princeton University. He teaches and writes in the areas of American legal history, food and drug law, health law, and civil procedure. He has also been a Visiting Professor of Law at Cornell Law School. Professor Grossman's scholarship has appeared in the Cornell Law Review, Law and History Review, Yale Journal of Health Policy, Law & Ethics, and Administrative Law Review, among others. He has made recent contributions to volumes published by Oxford University Press and Columbia University Press. He is the co-author of Food and Drug Law: Cases and Materials (with Peter Barton Hutt and Richard A. Merrill) and of a widely used supplement to the first-year civil procedure course titled A Documentary Companion to A Civil Action (with Robert G. Vaughn). Professor Grossman is currently at work on a book titled Choose Your Medicine: Freedom of Therapeutic Choice in American Law and History, which will be published by Oxford University Press. He has served as a member or legal consultant on three committees of the Health and Medicine Division of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine (formerly the Institute of Medicine).

CONCURRENT SESSION 2A

PRIVATE INSURANCE: SUBSIDIES, RISK ADJUSTMENT, AND ADVERSE SELECTION

Joel Michaels

Partner, McDermott, Will & Emery and Adjunct Professor, Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law, Arizona State University.

Joel L. Michaels advises clients on health care insurance and health care delivery system organization, financing, and regulation. He provides legal counsel to national and regional health insurers across the United States, in addition to advising pharmacy benefit managers, specialty health care service vendors and national health care associations. He served as the partner-in-charge of the Firm's Washington Health Industry Advisory Practice Group for over 15 years. He is one of the few health care attorneys nationwide to receive the top-tier recognition by Chambers USA in both the healthcare transactional and health care regulatory categories. Joel assists clients in health insurance regulatory issues at the state and federal levels, including the challenges presented by the Affordable Care Act. He draws on his experience with a wide variety of state health insurance and federal laws that affect provider/health plan relationships as a critical component of the advice he provides clients. Joel has served as an adjunct member of the American University, Washington College of Law faculty and is also an adjunct faculty member of the Arizona State University Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law where his focus is on health insurance and the law.

Jeanne Lambrew

Senior Fellow, Century Foundation, former Deputy Assistant to the President for Health Policy

Jeanne Lambrew, PhD, is a senior fellow at The Century Foundation and an adjunct professor at the NYU Wagner Graduate School of Public Service. Her writing, research, and teaching focus on policies to improve health care access, affordability, and quality. Previously, she worked in the Obama Administration. In the first two years, she was the director of the Office of Health Reform at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). From 2011 to January 2017, she worked at the White House as the deputy assistant to the president for health policy. Prior to joining the Obama Administration, Lambrew was an associate professor at both the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs in Austin, Texas (2007–2008) and the George Washington University School of Public Health (2001–2007). She also served as senior fellow for health policy at the Center for American Progress (2003–2007).

William B. Schultz

Partner, Zuckerman Spaeder, former General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services

William B. Schultz represents healthcare consumers, payers and providers with complex regulatory issues before the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), other federal agencies, and the courts. Bill served as General Counsel of HHS from March 2011 to June 2016, where he was legal counsel to two HHS secretaries on all legal matters. The office of general counsel is responsible for all litigation where HHS is a party, ensuring regulations and policy decisions are consistent with the law, reviewing legal issues involving appropriations, and ensuring ethical rules are followed. Prior to joining HHS, Bill was a partner at Zuckerman Spaeder and represented nonprofit organizations, state and local governments, individuals, generic drug companies and small biotechnology companies.

Brendan S. Maher

Professor of Law, Director, Insurance Law Center, University of Connecticut School of Law

Brendan S. Maher is the Connecticut Mutual Professor of Law at the University of Connecticut and the Director of the law school's independently endowed Insurance Law Center. A graduate of Stanford University and Harvard Law School, Professor Maher is the faculty advisor for the peer-reviewed Connecticut Insurance Law Journal and a nationally recognized expert in the regulation of insurance, pensions, and health care. He is a leading authority on ERISA and the Affordable Care Act, and also teaches and studies the procedural and evidentiary aspects of civil litigation in federal courts. Professor Maher routinely appears before the United States Supreme Court, including recently representing the state of Vermont in Gobeille v. Liberty Mut.

Ins. Co., 136 S. Ct. 936 (2016).

Follow on Twitter: @BrendanSMaher

Taryn Morrissey

Associate Professor, American University School of Public Affairs

Taryn Morrissey is Associate Professor of Public Policy at American University's School of Public Affairs. Her research examines the causes, consequences, and policy solutions for disparities in health and achievement. From January 2013 to August 2014, Dr. Morrissey was on leave from AU serving as Senior Advisor for Human Services Policy in the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation (ASPE) at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Prior to joining the AU faculty in 2010, Taryn Morrissey served as a Health Policy Advisor on the staff of the U.S. Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee, first for Senator Edward Kennedy and then for Senator Tom Harkin, primarily working on the Affordable Care Act. She holds a PhD in Developmental Psychology from Cornell University.

CONCURRENT SESSION 2B

HEALTH REFORM: IMPLICATIONS FOR HEALTH EQUITY

Daniel Dawes

Executive Director of Health Policy and External Affairs, Morehouse School of Medicine

Daniel E. Dawes is a nationally recognized leader in the health equity movement and has led numerous efforts to address health policy issues impacting vulnerable, under-served, and marginalized populations. He is a health care attorney and administrator and a lecturer of health law and policy at the Satcher Health Leadership Institute. Dawes was instrumental in shaping the Affordable Care Act and founded and chaired the largest advocacy group, the National Working Group on Health Disparities and Health Reform, focused on developing comprehensive, inclusive and meaningful legislation to reform the health care system and address the disparities in health care and health status among racial and ethnic minorities, people with disabilities, women, children, LGBT individuals, and other vulnerable groups in the United States. He is the co-founder of the Health Equity Leadership and Exchange Network (HELEN), which is a national network of health equity champions in virtually every state and territory. Follow on Twitter: @DanieEDawes

Renée M. Landers

Professor of Law, Suffolk University School of Law

Renée M. Landers is Professor of Law at Suffolk University Law School and is the Faculty Director of the school's Health and Biomedical Law Concentration. President of the Boston Bar Association in 2003-2004, she was the first woman of color and the first law professor to serve in that position. She has worked in private practice and served as Deputy General Counsel for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and as Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Office of Policy Development at the U.S. Department of Justice during the Clinton Administration. She also has served as a member of the board of Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts and continues to serve on that board's governance and risk management committees. She was a member of the Massachusetts Commission on Judicial Conduct and served as Vice Chair of the Commission from 2009 to 2010. She served on the task force that drafted the revised Code of Judicial Conduct effective in 2016 and currently is a member of the Committee on Judicial Ethics which advises judges on compliance with the Code. An elected member of the National Academy of Social Insurance since 2008, she currently serves as Vice President of the NASI Board of Directors. She is the author of articles on the potential for Massachusetts health care reform initiatives to eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in health care and aspects of the Affordable Care Act. In addition to health care, Landers has written on diversity in the legal profession and privacy and is a regular commentator on legal developments in constitutional law, health law, and administrative law for media organizations.

Mary Crossley

Professor of Law, University of Pittsburgh School of Law

Mary Crossley's scholarship has examined issues of inequality in the financing and delivery of health care, encompassing topics ranging from how health insurance coverage effectively discriminates against unhealthy people to how hospitals' community need health assessments can be tools for addressing racial health disparities. Crossley was appointed Dean and Professor of Law at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law in 2005 and served as Dean from 2005-2012, focusing her leadership on initiatives relating to curricular reform, innovation programming, and promoting diversity. In 2013 she was selected as a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Public Health Law Scholar in Residence, and in 2014-15 she served as a Faculty Mentor for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Future of Public Health Law Education Faculty Fellowship Program. She was elected to membership in the ALI in 2016. Follow on Twitter: @MaryCrossley

MaryBeth Musumeci

Associate Director, Program on Medicaid and the Uninsured, Kaiser Family Foundation

MaryBeth Musumeci is an Associate Director at the Program on Medicaid and the Uninsured, where she concentrates on Medicaid for people with disabilities, including issues related to people dually eligible for Medicare and Medicaid and long-term services and supports. Prior to joining the KFF, she held Clinical Teaching Fellowship at Villanova University School of Law and spent eight years as a civil legal aid lawyer, most recently as the Deputy Legal Advocacy Director of the Disabilities Law Program at Community Legal Aid Society, Inc. in Wilmington, Delaware. Previously, she developed and taught a seminar in Public Benefits Law at Widener University School of Law, clerked in the Delaware Family Court, and held an Independence Foundation Public Interest Law Fellowship representing women transitioning from welfare to work in Chester, Pennsylvania. She received her B.A. with highest honors from Douglass College, Rutgers University and her J.D. from Harvard Law School. Follow on Twitter: @mmusumec

Capri S. Cafaro

Executive in Residence, American University School of Public Affairs, former Minority Leader, Ohio Senate

Former Ohio State Senator Capri S. Cafaro is the newest Executive in Residence at American University's School of Public Affairs. During her 10 years as a Democrat in the Ohio Senate, Cafaro established track record of legislative effectiveness and leadership, advocating for economic growth, healthcare, and victim's rights. Cafaro has been recognized as Legislator of the Year for the Ohio Association of Advanced Practice Nurses, The Ohio Speech and Hearing Association, The Ohio Association of Area

Agencies on Aging, The Ohio Am Vets, the Ohio Soy/Corn/Wheat Association and the Ohio Public Children Services Association. Cafaro graduated at age 19 from Stanford University with a degree in American Studies. She holds an MALS with a concentration in International Studies from Georgetown University, and an MSW with a concentration in health and administration from The Ohio State University. Follow on Twitter: @thehonorablecsc

PLENARY SESSION 3

THE FUTURE OF HEALTH REFORM

Scott A. Bass

American University Provost

Scott A. Bass is the Provost at AU and Professor of Public Administration and Policy. A Fellow of the Gerontological Society of America, Dr. Bass received the Donald P. Kent Award for exhibiting the highest standards for professional leadership in gerontology in teaching, service, and interpreting gerontology to the larger society. He has written/ edited 8 books and 45 articles and earned a Fulbright Research Scholarship to Japan. A recognized innovator in higher education, Dr. Bass is on the Educational Testing Service (ETS) Higher Education Advisory Council and has served on numerous national boards related to research and graduate education. Past appointments include Vice President for Research and Dean of the Graduate School, University of Maryland Baltimore County (UMBC); Distinguished Professor of Sociology and Public Policy, UMBC; Director, Gerontology Institute, University of Massachusetts Boston (UMB); Program Director of the Ph.D. Program in Gerontology, UMB; Professor of College of Public and Community Service, UMB; Distinguished Visiting Professor, Yokohama City University, Japan; and Visiting Professor, School of Medicine, Stanford University.

Sylvia Mathews Burwell

American University President and former Secretary of Health and Human Services

Sylvia M. Burwell is American University's 15th president and the first woman to serve as president. A visionary leader with experience in the public and private sectors, President Burwell brings to American University a commitment to education and research, the ability to manage large and complex organizations, and experience helping to advance solutions to some of the world's most pressing challenges. Burwell served as the 22nd Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) from 2014 to 2017. During her tenure, the Department shepherded the implementation of the Affordable Care Act, pioneered groundbreaking advances in research and innovation, and expanded critical services for children and families. Previously, she was the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), where she worked with Congress to negotiate a two-year budget deal following the 2013 government shutdown. Her prior government experience includes Deputy Director of the Office of Management and Budget, Deputy Chief of Staff to the President, Chief of Staff to the Secretary of the Treasury, and Special Assistant to the Director of the National Economic Council.

President Burwell served 11 years at the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, including roles as the Chief Operating Officer and President of the Global Development Program. After the Gates Foundation, she was the President of the Walmart Foundation, where she led efforts to fight hunger in America, empower women around the world, and leverage Walmart's presence in local communities to reach millions of people. She earned a bachelor's degree in Government from Harvard University and a BA in Philosophy, Politics and Economics from the University of Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar.

Follow on Twitter: @SylviaBurwell

PLENARY SESSION 4

GETTING HEALTH CARE RIGHT

Vicky Wilkins

Interim Dean, American University School of Public Affairs

Vicky M. Wilkins is the Interim Dean of the School of Public Affairs and Professor of Public Administration and Policy at American University. Her primary research interests include representative bureaucracy; bureaucratic discretion; gender and race issues; deservingness; political institutions and human resource management. Dean Wilkins earned her BS in Political Science and History from Northern Michigan University, her MS in Human Resource Management from Chapman University, and her PhD in political science from the University of Missouri.

Follow on Twitter: @VickyWilkins1

Daniel J. Hilferty

President and CEO, Independence Blue Cross

Daniel J. Hilferty is president and chief executive officer of Independence Blue Cross, one of the nation's leading health insurers. Since Mr. Hilferty became CEO in 2010, the number of people the company and its affiliates serve has tripled to nearly 8.5 million in 24 states and Washington, D.C. Mr. Hilferty's vision is to lead the transformation of health care in America, seeking innovative technologies and new models of care that will increase the quality and lower the cost of care. He has built business collaborations with world-renowned institutions such as the University of Pennsylvania to conduct cutting-edge research and partnered with Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans and other leaders in health care to purchase dynamic health care companies. Mr. Hilferty serves as chairman of the board of directors for the Blue Cross Blue Shield Association. He serves on the executive committee of America's Health Insurance Plans.

PLENARY SESSION 5

THE HATCH-WAXMAN ACT AND THE FUTURE OF THE PHARMACEUTICAL MARKETPLACE

Aaron S. Kesselheim

Associate Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School

Aaron S. Kesselheim, M.D., J.D., M.P.H., is an Associate Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School and a faculty member in the Division of Pharmacoepidemiology and Pharmacoeconomics in the Department of Medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital. He is Board Certified in Internal Medicine, and serves as a primary care physician at the Phyllis Jen Center for Primary Care at BWH. His research focuses on the effects of intellectual property laws and regulatory policies on pharmaceutical development, the drug approval process, and the costs, availability, and use of prescription drugs both domestically and in resource-poor settings. He has also investigated how other issues at the intersection of law and public health can affect the health care system, including health care fraud, expert testimony in malpractice cases, and insurance reimbursement practices. He is a member of the New York State Bar and is a Patent Attorney. Follow on Twitter: @akesselheim

Henry A. Waxman

Chairman, Waxman Strategies and former Member of the U.S. House of Representatives from California

Representative Henry A. Waxman currently serves as Chairman at Waxman Strategies, a public affairs and strategic communications firm. He advises clients on public policy and continues to focus on the issues he championed while in Congress, including health care, environment, energy, technology and telecommunications. In addition, he serves as a Regent Lecturer for University of California, Los Angeles, and as an advisor and lecturer at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Previously, Henry spent 40 years serving in the House of Representatives. He had the distinction of serving as Chairman and Ranking Member of the Energy & Commerce Committee and Committee on Oversight & Government Reform. He also served as Chairman and Ranking Member of the Energy & Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Health and the Environment. Henry's legislative work and tenacity has earned him recognition as "one of the most accomplished legislators of our time" by Washington Post columnist Harold Meyerson and "tougher than a boiled owl" by Senator Alan Simpson when pushing for passage of the landmark Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990.

CONCURRENT SESSION 3A

REGULATING THE NONGROUP MARKET: PREEXISTING CONDITIONS, HEALTH-STATUS UNDERWRITING, AND ESSENTIAL HEALTH BENEFITS

Elizabeth Weeks Leonard

Professor of Law, University of Georgia School of Law

Elizabeth Weeks Leonard is a J. Alton Hosch Professor of Law. Her teaching and research interests include torts, health law, health care financing and regulation, and public health law. Her scholarship includes a recently published book, The Law of American Health Care (with N. Huberfield and K. Outtersen), and a forthcoming Cambridge University Press title, Healthism: Health Status Discrimination and the Law (with J. Roberts). She was recognized as one of four emerging health law scholars nationwide by the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics with its Health Law Scholars Award in 2005. Weeks has also served as chair of the Association of American Law Schools Section on Law, Medicine, and Health Care and serves as co-editor of the Health Law Section of the online journal Jotwell.

Edmund F. Haislmaier

Preston A. Wells, Jr. Senior Research Fellow, Heritage Foundation

Edmund F. Haislmaier is the Preston A. Wells Jr., Senior Research Fellow in Domestic Policy Studies at The Heritage Foundation. He has thirty years experience analyzing health care markets and public policies. Mr. Haislmaier has particular expertise in the structure and regulation of health insurance markets, the tax treatment of health benefits, and pharmaceutical policy issues. He has published extensively on those and other health care policy topics. During the last several years, his work has focused primarily on measuring the effects of the Affordable Care Act on health insurance enrollment, insurer competition, insurer profitability and the law's risk mitigation programs. He is often asked to assist federal and state lawmakers in designing health reform proposals and legislation, has testified on numerous occasions before congressional and state legislative committees, and is frequently interviewed by the media.

Joel Ario

Managing Director, Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, LLP, former Director, Office of Health Insurance Exchanges, US Dep't of Health and Human Services

With 30 years of experience shaping and implementing public health policy at the state and federal levels, Joel Ario provides strategic consulting and analysis on healthcare policies and institutions, with an emphasis on public and private exchange-based marketplaces. He represents state governments, health plans, hospitals, foundations and other entities. Joel's experience includes two decades of leading health insurance reform efforts for state and federal governments. As director of the Office of Health Insurance Exchanges at the U.S.

Department of Health & Human Services, he worked closely with states and other stakeholders to develop the regulatory framework for exchanges, including the rights and responsibilities of states and the federal government in expanding coverage.

John Jacobi

Professor of Law, Seton Hall University School of Law

Professor John Jacobi's work is primarily in the areas of health care finance , insurance, and access; mental Health law; and disability law. Professor Jacobi serves as principal investigator on a number of grant-funded projects on topics including behavioral health integration, mental health parity, and health insurance reform. His recent and current scholarly projects include the application of the health reform law to the poor and people with disabilities, the implementation of mental health parity laws, state implementation of Medicaid and private health insurance reform, the improvement of chronic care in health systems, the funding and structure of services for children with disabilities, the obligations of government to provide services to people with serious mental illness, and the clash of disability rights and public health interests. He served on the Governor's Task Force on Mental Health, the Board of Advisors of the New Jersey Office of Child Advocacy, the New Jersey Olmstead Advisory Council on disability rights, and on other government and non-profit boards and committees. He is Faculty Director of the Seton Hall Health & Pharmaceutical Law & Policy Program.

Robert Dinerstein

Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Experiential Education, American University Washington College of Law

Robert Dinerstein is professor of law, director of the clinical program (1988-96 and 2008-present), associate dean for experiential education (2012-present) and director of the Disability Rights Law Clinic (2005-present) at AU's Washington College of Law, where he has taught since 1983. He was the law school's associate dean for academic affairs from 1997-2004. He specializes in the fields of clinical education and disability law, especially mental disabilities law (including issues of consent/choice, capacity and guardianship), the Americans with Disabilities Act, the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, legal representation of clients with mental disabilities, and disability and international human rights. Dinerstein currently sits on the boards of directors of the Equal Rights Center (president), and the New Hope Community, Inc., and in the past has served on the boards of the Quality Trust for Individuals with Disabilities, Inc. (founding board member & president, 2001-2016), Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless, Inc. (founding board member and long-term treasurer, 1986-2015), Advocates for Justice and Education (treasurer), the District of Columbia Bar Board of Governors (elected; 2002-05), Society of American Law Teachers (elected), Mental Disability Rights International (founding board member; now called Disability Rights International), Legal Counsel for the Elderly, and the Maryland Disability Law Center.

CONCURRENT SESSION 3B

HEALTH REFORM: IMPLICATIONS FOR HOSPITALS

Maureen Byrnes

Lead Research Scientist, George Washington University Milken Institute School of Public Health

For over 30 years Maureen Byrnes served in leadership positions in the federal government, philanthropy and the non-profit sector. As Executive Director of Human Rights First, she worked to end the use of torture as an interrogation technique. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. From 1997 to 2005, Maureen served as Director of the Health and Human Services program at The Pew Charitable Trusts. In the 1980s, Maureen worked with Senator Lowell Weicker as the Staff Director of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, HHS, Education and Related Agencies to provide early government funding to address the HIV epidemic. Later she served as Executive Director of the National Commission on AIDS. Currently, Maureen is a Lead Research Scientist and Lecturer in the Department of Health Policy and Management in the Milken Institute School of Public Health at the George Washington University. She also serves as the Project Director of PHRASES (Public Health Reaching Across Sectors).

Beth Feldpush

Senior Vice President, Policy and Advocacy, America's Essential Hospitals

Feldpush oversees advocacy, policy, and communications work for America's Essential Hospitals. In this role, she provides strategic leadership and advocacy on behalf of safety net health systems. Feldpush directs the association's federal government affairs portfolio, as well as the organization's policy development activities. She oversees the association's internal and external communications efforts. Feldpush also manages the association's participation in and leadership of coalitions and allied organization activities, acting as a liaison to other trade associations. Feldpush previously served as a senior associate director for policy at the American Hospital Association (AHA), where she worked on health care delivery system reform and hospital quality and patient safety issues. Prior to joining AHA, Feldpush worked at the U.S. Government Accountability Office, where her work focused on Medicare payment policy, end-of-life care, geographic variation in service delivery, and health care workforce adequacy. She also serves as adjunct faculty for the George Washington University School of Public Health Department of Health Policy. Follow on Twitter: @bfeldpush

Mark Hayes

Senior Vice President for Federal Policy and Advocacy Ascension Health

Mark Hayes is a lawyer and pharmacist with more than 20 years of federal and private sector health law and policy experience through which he has played a leading role in the development and enactment of health care policy and legislation in Washington. He served on the staff for four U.S. Senators (Grassley, Bond, Snowe and Jeffords), and served for more than seven years as Health Policy Director and Chief Health Counsel for the Senate Finance Committee Republican staff for Chairman/Ranking Member Grassley. He has also represented numerous clients at the federal level including hospital systems, managed care plans, health care corporations, pharmacies, health care trade associations, and coalitions. Through this experience, he was a leader in the policy development, legislative drafting and negotiations on the health care provisions of several major pieces of federal legislation including the Affordable Care Act, the Medicare Advantage and Part D prescription drug benefit provisions of the Medicare Modernization Act, the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act, the Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act, the Deficit Reduction Act, and the Administrative Simplification provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act. Follow on Twitter: @MarkLHayes

Dayna Bowen Matthew

Professor of Law, University of Virginia

Dayna Matthew, a leader in public health who focuses on racial disparities in health care, joined the Virginia faculty in 2017. Matthew previously served on the University of Colorado law faculty as a professor, vice dean and associate dean of academic affairs. She was a member of the Center for Bioethics and Humanities on the Anschutz Medical Campus and held a joint appointment at the Colorado School of Public Health. She has also taken on many public policy roles. Matthew worked with a law firm partner in 2013 to found the Colorado Health Equity Project, a medical-legal partnership incubator aimed at removing barriers to good health for low-income clients by providing legal representation, research and policy advocacy. In 2015 she served as the senior adviser to the director of the Office of Civil Rights for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, where she expedited cases on behalf of historically vulnerable communities besieged by pollution. She then became a member of the health policy team for U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow of Michigan, and worked on public health issues. Follow on Twitter: @JustHealthByLaw

Asha Scielzo

Senior Fellow, Health Law and Policy Program, American University Washington College of Law

Asha Scielzo serves as AU Washington College of Law's Senior Fellow for Health Law and Policy and as an Adjunct Professor of Law. In these leadership roles, Professor Scielzo assists with development of the health law and policy curriculum, recruitment of adjunct professors, expansion of health law externships, career counseling, career panels and other programming. She advises the student-led Health Law and Policy Brief and Health Law and Policy Students Association. She founded and manages the annual WCL National Health Law Writing Competition and directs the annual Health Law and Policy Summer Institute. Professor Scielzo brings over 15 years of large law firm practice experience to the classroom. As a practitioner, she concentrated her practice on health care regulatory counseling, with particular emphasis on fraud and abuse and reimbursement considerations and their impact on day-to-day operations, corporate compliance and governance, and transactions. Professor Scielzo also serves on the Board of Directors of the American Health Lawyers Association (AHLA), the nation's largest, nonpartisan, 501(c)(3) educational organization devoted to legal issues in the health care field. As Co-Chair of AHLA's Diversity+Inclusion Council, Professor Scielzo works to advance and promote diverse and inclusive participation within AHLA and more broadly across the health law bar. From 2012 - 2016 she also had the privilege of chairing AHLA's annual Fundamentals of Health Law Conference. Professor Scielzo is a frequent speaker and author in the field of health law, and serves as a mentor to numerous law students and young lawyers.

CONCURRENT SESSION 4A: HEALTH CARE PAYMENT AND DELIVERY REFORM: TRANSPARENCY AND COMPETITION

Erin Fuse Brown

Associate Professor of Law, Georgia State University College of Law

Erin C. Fuse Brown, associate professor of law, teaches Administrative Law; Health Law: Financing & Delivery; and the Health Care Transactional & Regulatory Practicum. She is a faculty member of the Center for Law, Health & Society. Fuse Brown was awarded the 2017 Patricia T. Morgan Award for Outstanding Scholarship among the faculty. Fuse Brown's areas of research and expertise include health care prices, medical billing, the Affordable Care Act, health care competition and regulation, surprise medical bills, consumer protections for patients, and genetic research and privacy. Fuse Brown is one of five new casebook authors for the 8th Edition of Health Law, published by West. Fuse Brown's work has earned her recognition as the 2017-18 Distinguished Health Law Scholar at Seton Hall School of Law, the keynote speaker at the National Academy for State Health Policy's annual conference in 2015, a plenary speaker at the Academy Health Policy conference in 2016, and a frequent guest on the podcast, The Week in Health Law. Follow on Twitter: @efusebrown

Thomas L. Greaney

Professor of Law, Emeritus, St. Louis Univ. School of Law, Visiting Professor of Law, UC Hastings College of Law

A nationally recognized expert on health care and antitrust law, Professor Thomas (Tim) Greaney has spent the last two decades examining the evolution of the health care industry and is a vocal advocate for reforming the health care system and protecting consumers. He also has a strong interest in comparative antitrust law, having been a Fulbright Scholar in Brussels and a visiting lecturer at several European law schools. Professor Greaney's extensive body of scholarly writing on health care and antitrust laws encompasses articles published in some of the country's most prestigious legal and health policy journals. Professor Greaney has authored or co-authored several books, including the leading health care casebook, Health

Law. A frequent speaker in academia and the media, he has testified several times before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives and has submitted invited testimony to the U.S. Senate on issues regarding competition and regulation in the health care sector.

Jamie S. King

Professor of Law, UC Hastings College of Law

Jaime S. King is a Professor of Law at the University of California Hastings College of the Law. She is also the Associate Dean and Co-Director of the UCSF/UC Hastings Consortium on Science, Law and Health Policy, the Co-Founder and Co-Director of the UCSF/UC Hastings Masters in Health Law and Policy Program, and the Director of the Concentration on Law and Health Sciences. Professor King's research focuses on the drivers of healthcare costs, with a special interest in market consolidation and efforts to improve transparency in healthcare pricing. She is the Co-Founder and Executive Editor of The Source on

Healthcare Price and Competition, a multi-disciplinary web-based resource for information and analysis about healthcare price and competition. In 2015, she testified before the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Regulatory Reform, Commercial, and Antitrust Law on issues surrounding health insurance mergers. Professor King is the 2015 recipient of the Hastings Foundation Faculty Award for Outstanding Scholarship. Professor King holds a Ph.D. in Health Policy from Harvard University, a J.D. from Emory University, and a B.A. from Dartmouth College.

Lawrence E. Singer

Associate Professor of Law, Associate Dean, Online Learning, Director, Beazley Institute for Health Law and Policy, Loyola University Chicago School of Law

Larry Singer is Associate Dean of Online Learning and Director of the Beazley Institute for Health Law and Policy. Professor Singer is a nationally recognized expert on legal and strategic issues surrounding the organization of health care institutions, and speaks extensively on these issues. He teaches in the area of corporate and regulatory health law. Professor Singer has published in various law journals on corporate and tax issues pertaining to non-profit organizations, issues surrounding access to care and the intersection of law and religion. Professor Singer has been a partner in the health law department of McDermott, Will & Emery and national practice head of the firm's Catholic health care practice. He also was an attorney in the health law department of Ross & Hardies, and served as Counsel/Fellow at the American Hospital Association. While in law school Professor Singer worked for Senator Edward Kennedy, staffing death penalty and health care legislation.

Fernando Laguarda

Faculty Director, Program on Law and Government, American University Washington College of Law

Fernando Laguarda is Professorial Lecturer and Director of the Program on Law & Government at the American University Washington College of Law. Previously, he served as Vice President, External Affairs and Policy Counselor for Time Warner Cable, where he helped the company develop and advance its policy positions, focusing on consumer protection, competition issues, intellectual property and telecommunications regulation. He also oversaw the company's relationships with non-governmental policy stakeholders such as civil rights and human rights organizations, think tanks, foundations, academic institutions and public interest groups. In 2010, Fernando founded and served as inaugural Director of the Time Warner Cable Research Program on Digital Communications, the first program of its kind seeking to expand relevant scholarship in the cable and telecommunications industries.

Follow on Twitter: @Laguarda

CONCURRENT SESSION 4B

MEDICAID WAIVERS AND LITIGATION

Heather Howard

Lecturer in Public Affairs and Director, State Health and Value Strategies, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University

Heather Howard is a lecturer in Public Affairs at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, where she teaches courses on implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA), the social determinants of health, and state and local health policy, and is a faculty affiliate of the Center for Health & Wellbeing. She is director of the State Health and Value Strategies program, a Robert Wood Johnson Foundation-funded program that provides technical assistance to states to support efforts to transform health and health care. She served as New Jersey's Commissioner of Health and Senior Services from 2008-2010. She also has significant federal experience, having worked as Senator Jon Corzine's Chief of Staff, as Associate Director of the White House Domestic Policy Council and Senior Policy Advisor for First Lady Hillary Clinton, as an Honors Attorney in the U.S. Department of Justice's Antitrust Division Health Care Task Force, and for the U.S. House of Representatives. She received her B.A. from Duke University and her J.D. from NYU School of Law. Follow on Twitter: @HeatherHHoward

Leonardo Cuello

Director, Health Policy, National Health Law Program

Leonardo Cuello is based out of NHeLP's Washington, D.C. office and is the organization's director of health policy. Leonardo also leads NHeLP's work on the Campaign for Better Care, a coalition to improve care for older adults. Leonardo's current work focuses on programs for dual eligibility, Medicaid Expansion implementation, Medicaid Expansion and Exchange benefits, and Medicaid delivery system reform. Leonardo also serves on the board of directors of the National Quality Forum. Prior to joining NHeLP, Leonardo worked at the Pennsylvania Health Law Project (PHLP) for six years, focusing on a wide range of health care issues dealing with eligibility and access to services in Medicaid and Medicare. Leonardo began at PHLP as an Independence Foundation Fellow and later served as a staff attorney and PHLP's acting executive director. At PHLP, Leo ran a project focused on immigrant and Latino health care, including direct representation of low-income immigrants and Latinos, and worked on numerous Medicaid eligibility and services issues through direct representation and policy work. Leo also worked on Medicare Part D implementation issues, PHLP's Hospital Accountability Project, and also served as legal counsel to the Consumer Subcommittee of Pennsylvania's Medical Care Advisory Committee.

Sidney Watson

Professor of Law, Saint Louis University School of Law

Professor Watson is a specialist in health law and health care access for the poor. She has spent her legal career advocating on behalf of low-income people, both as a legal services lawyer and as a law professor. Currently, Professor Watson is advocating for better access to quality, affordable health insurance and health care by serving as policy and legal advisor for a statewide coalition of grassroots consumer health advocates. Professor Watson joined the School of Law in 2001 as a full professor. Previously, she was on the faculty at Mercer University School of Law, where she taught for 14 years. Watson has been a visiting scholar and professor at Seton Hall University School of Law and Saint Louis University School of Law. She is on the faculty of the School's Center for Health Law Studies and is the Jane and Bruce Robert Professor of Law.

Caroline M. Brown

Partner, Covington and Burling

Caroline Brown is a partner at the DC office of Covington & Burling LLP, where she is Chair of the Federal-State Programs practice and Co-Chair of the Health Care Industry group. Her practice focuses on government-sponsored health care programs— including Medicaid, Medicare, CHIP, and the Affordable Care Act. Ms. Brown's clients include a number of state Medicaid agencies across the country, as well as health plans, providers, and consulting firms. In addition to a substantial advisory practice, she has litigated numerous cases in federal court and before HHS tribunals including the Departmental Appeals Board and the Provider Reimbursement Review Board. She is a magna cum laude graduate of Harvard College (A.B. 1985) and Harvard Law School (J.D. 1990), and a former law clerk to both Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Justice Sandra Day O'Connor.

Capri S. Cafaro

Executive in Residence, American University School of Public Affairs, former Minority Leader, Ohio Senate

Former Ohio State Senator Capri S. Cafaro is the newest Executive in Residence at American University's School of Public Affairs. During her 10 years as a Democrat in the Ohio Senate, Cafaro established track record of legislative effectiveness and leadership, advocating for economic growth, healthcare, and victim's rights. Cafaro has been recognized as Legislator of the Year for the Ohio Association of Advanced Practice Nurses, The Ohio Speech and Hearing Association, The Ohio Association of

Area Agencies on Aging, The Ohio Am Vets, the Ohio Soy/Corn/Wheat Association and the Ohio Public Children Services Association. Cafaro graduated at age 19 from Stanford University with a degree in American Studies. She holds an MALS with a concentration in International Studies from Georgetown University, and an MSW with a concentration in health and administration from The Ohio State University. Follow on Twitter: @thehonorablecsc

CONCURRENT SESSION 5A

MEDICAID COST CONCERNS: PER CAPITA CAPS, BLOCK GRANTS, AND MANAGED CARE

Clifford Barnes

Member, Epstein, Becker & Green

Clifford E. Barnes is a Member of the Firm in the Health Care and Life Sciences practice in the firm's Washington, D.C., and New York offices and serves as Co-Chair of the firm's Health Plan Compliance Group. Mr. Barnes has been employed by the firm for over 30 years and represents providers, including hospitals, hospital systems, nursing homes, home health, hospice, ancillary service companies; managed care companies, concentrating in Medicare and Medicaid; and non-profit associations. Mr. Barnes is the Co-Founder of Medicaid Health Plans of America, Inc., and currently serves as Vice Chair of the Accountable Care Organization Task Force of the American Health Lawyers Association. In 2016 and 2017, Mr. Barnes was selected to the Washington DC Super Lawyers list in the area of Health Care. He was also recommended in The Legal 500 United States (2016), for Health Insurers.

Zack Buck

Assistant Professor, University of Tennessee College of Law

Professor Zack Buck specializes in health law, and his scholarship examines governmental enforcement of laws affecting health and health care in the United States. Most recently, his writing has sought to evaluate how the enforcement of health care fraud and abuse laws impacts American quality of care, with a particular focus on the legal regulation of overtreatment. In 2017, Buck was recognized as the UT Law Wilkinson Junior Research Professor and received the Marilyn V. Yarbrough Faculty Award for Writing Excellence. In 2013, he was selected as a Health Law Scholar and participated in the ASLME Health Law Scholars Workshop at Saint Louis University School of Law. Buck is also a regular contributor to Bill of Health, a blog maintained by Harvard University's Petrie-Flom Center, and to the online journal, Jotwell.

Brietta Clark

Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Faculty, Loyola Law School Los Angeles

Professor Clark is an expert on health care law and inequality. Her research focuses on the structural defects and biases that create inequity in our health care delivery and financing systems, and the role that law and government regulators play in ensuring equitable access to health care resources. She has special expertise in the impact of Obamacare on Medicaid and private insurance access, reproductive and sexual health barriers, mental health care, and hospital closings in low-income neighborhoods. Clark is an affiliate faculty member of The Bioethics Institute at Loyola Marymount University, and provides active service to numerous legal, medical and consumer-based organizations and providers. Prior to joining Loyola in 2001, Clark worked in the Los Angeles office of Sidley, Austin, Brown & Wood, specializing in health care transactions and regulatory compliance. She was a post-graduate Fellow at the University of Southern California Law School.

Nicole Huberfeld

Professor of Health Law, Ethics & Human Rights, Boston University School of Public Health

Nicole works at the cross-section of health care finance and constitutional law with a focus on their effects on vulnerable populations. Her work also has been cited by the Delaware Supreme Court, federal district courts, and in briefs to the US Supreme Court. She has an article forthcoming in Stanford Law Review (with co-author Abbe Gluck, Professor of Law and Director of the Solomon Center for Health Law and Policy at Yale Law School) and has published in national and international journals including Boston College Law Review, Yale Journal of Health Policy, Law & Ethics, Boston University Law Review, University of Pennsylvania Journal of Constitutional Law, Health Affairs, and Vanderbilt Journal of Entertainment & Technology Law. She has been interviewed by numerous media outlets, including Congressional Quarterly, Washington Post, New York Times, NPR, Huffington Post, National Law Journal, Mother Jones, and Modern Healthcare. Prior to joining the BU faculty, Huberfeld taught courses on constitutional law, health care organizations and finance, bioethical issues in the law, and a health law and policy seminar at the University of Kentucky College of Law and was a Bioethics Associate at the College of Medicine. Previously, she taught at Seton Hall University School of Law and directed the health care compliance certification program there. Huberfeld also practiced law in New York and New Jersey before entering academia. Follow on Twitter: @nhuberfeld1

Daniela Kraiem

Associate Director, Women and the Law Program, American University Washington College of Law

Daniela Kraiem is the Associate Director of the Women and the Law Program and a Practitioner-in-Residence at American University Washington College of Law. Daniela collaborates with the students, faculty and staff to integrate gender into all aspects of legal education. When she is not teaching courses in gender and domestic policy, gender and international and comparative law and advanced legal writing, she fundraises for and coordinates grant-funded projects that connect the WCL community with the legal needs and concerns of women and LGBTI persons.

These currently include the Student Debt and Education Justice Project, a new effort to address the legal and policy aspects of student debt, the Gender Jurisprudence Collections Project, which focuses on the prosecution of gender-based violence in conflict, and the Gender, Health and Justice Project, which promotes the use of human rights instruments and domestic law to improve the health of women and LGBTI persons. She supports WCL's comprehensive gender and law curriculum, which includes twenty courses per year, as well as LLM specializations in "Gender and Law" in both domestic and international legal contexts. She works with students to plan substantive and career development events that encourage them to pursue activities and employment focused on gender justice. Follow on Twitter: @DanielaKraiem or @WomenLawProgram

CONCURRENT SESSION 5B: COMPARING THE U.S. AND CANADIAN HEALTH SYSTEMS: FACT VS. FICTION ROUNDTABLE

Adalsteinn Brown

Chair of Public Health Policy and Interim Dean, Dalla Lana School of Public Health, University of Toronto

Adalsteinn (Steini) Brown is the Interim Dean of the Dalla Lana School of Public Health at the University of Toronto and the Dalla Lana Chair of Public Health Policy at the University. Past roles include senior leadership roles in policy and strategy within the Ontario Government, founding roles in start-up companies, and extensive work on performance measurement. He received his undergraduate degree in government from Harvard University and his doctorate from the University of Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar.

Follow on Twitter: @SteiniBrown

Capri S. Cafaro

Executive in Residence, American University School of Public Affairs, former Minority Leader, Ohio Senate

Former Ohio State Senator Capri S. Cafaro is the newest Executive in Residence at American University's School of Public Affairs. During her 10 years as a Democrat in the Ohio Senate, Cafaro established track record of legislative effectiveness and leadership, advocating for economic growth, healthcare, and victim's rights. Cafaro has been recognized as Legislator of the Year for the Ohio Association of Advanced Practice Nurses, The Ohio Speech and Hearing Association, The Ohio Association of

Area Agencies on Aging, The Ohio Am Vets, the Ohio Soy/Corn/Wheat Association and the Ohio Public Children Services Association. Cafaro graduated at age 19 from Stanford University with a degree in American Studies. She holds an MALS with a concentration in International Studies from Georgetown University, and an MSW with a concentration in health and administration from The Ohio State University. Follow on Twitter: @thehonorablecsc

Gregory Marchildon

Ontario Research Chair in Health Policy and System Design, Institute of Health Policy, Management, and Evaluation, University of Toronto

Gregory P. Marchildon currently holds an Ontario Research Chair in Health Policy and System Design with the Institute of Health Policy, Management and Evaluation at the University of Toronto. Prior to this, he served as a Canada Research Chair in Public Policy and Economic History, and professor in the Johnson-Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy at the University of Regina. Dr. Marchildon is also a fellow of the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences, a founding member of the Pan-Canadian Health Reform Analysis Network (PHRAN) and associate editor of PHRAN's journal, the Health Reform Observer – Observatoire des Réformes de Santé. He is also Canada's representative to the European Observatory on Health

Systems and Policies' networked platform, the Health Systems and Policy Monitor (www.hspm.org). Follow on Twitter: @GregMarchildon

Jacqueline R. Fox

Associate Professor of Law, University of South Carolina School of Law

Professor Fox teaches Health Care Law and Policy, Public Health Law, Bioethics, and Torts. She has published numerous articles on health law, health care financing and regulation, and health care reform in publications including the University of Cincinnati Law Review, Buffalo Law Review, Seton Hall Law Review, the Yale Journal of Health Policy, Law, and Ethics, the International Journal of Healthcare Technology and Management, and The Hastings Center's Health Care Cost Monitor. Her current work closely examines the newly created Independent Payment Advisory Board, which is tasked with capping the costs of the Medicare program. She has published op-ed pieces in The State newspaper and appeared on local and regional news shows speaking on the subject of health law. Her work on Medicare, in particular, has been cited in a number of scholarly publications and one of her contributions to the Hastings Center health reform publications has been the subject of an article in the New York Times. She has also been an invited speaker at universities including Oxford University, the University of Toronto, Johns Hopkins University, and Yale University. She was a visiting professor at the Santa Anna University in Pisa, Italy, for the spring semester of 2009.

Vicky Wilkins

Interim Dean, American University School of Public Affairs

Vicky M. Wilkins is the Interim Dean of the School of Public Affairs and Professor of Public Administration and Policy at American University. Her primary research interests include representative bureaucracy; bureaucratic discretion; gender and race issues; deservingness; political institutions and human resource management. Dean Wilkins earned her BS in Political Science and History from Northern Michigan University, her MS in Human Resource Management from Chapman University, and her PhD in political science from the University of Missouri.

Follow on Twitter: @VickyWilkins1

CONCURRENT SESSION 6A: HEALTH CARE DELIVERY AND PAYMENT REFORM: VALUE-BASED PURCHASING, CARE COORDINATION AND PROVIDER INCENTIVES

Arlene S. Bierman

Director, Center for Evidence and Practice Improvement, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, US Dept. of Health and Human Services

Arlene S. Bierman, M.D., M.S., leads the Center for Evidence and Practice Improvement at AHRQ. CEPI generates new knowledge, synthesizes evidence, translates science on what works in health and health care delivery, and catalyzes practice improvement across health care settings and includes the Evidence-Based Practice Center Program; the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force Program; the Division of Health Information Technology; the Division of Practice Improvement, and the National Center for Excellence in Primary Care Research.

Previously, she was a tenured professor she held appointments Health Policy, Evaluation, and Management; Public Health; and Medicine; and Nursing at the University of Toronto, where she was the inaugural holder of the Ontario Women's Health Council Chair in Women's Health Dr. Bierman is a general internist, geriatrician, and health services researcher, whose work has focused on improving access, quality, and outcomes of health care for older adults with chronic illness in disadvantaged populations and has published widely in this area. Dr. Bierman has also developed strategies for using performance measurement as a tool for knowledge translation and has conducted research to increase policymakers' use of evidence. She served as an Atlantic Philanthropies Health and Aging Policy Fellow/American Political Science Foundation Congressional Fellow.

Gary Jacobs

Partner, Circumference Consulting

Mr. Gary M. Jacobs served as Executive Vice President of Strategic Partnerships at CareCentrix, Inc. from December 2015 to June 2017. Mr. Jacobs serves Senior Vice President of American Pioneer Health Plans Inc. He serves as Senior Vice President of Managed Care at American Pioneer Life Insurance Company. He serves as President of Ameri-Plus Preferred Care Inc. and WorldNet Services Corp. He served as Managing Director of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP since July 10, 2012. He founded CHCS Services, Inc. (CHCS Inc.) in 1992 and served as its President. He served as Senior Vice President of Corporate Development at Universal American Corp. (formerly, Universal American Financial Corp.) from 2002 to June 29, 2012. He joined Universal American Corp in August, 2000. Mr. Jacobs served as the President of Capitated HealthCare Services Inc. since 1995. He serves as Director of American Pioneer Health Plans Inc. and Primary Care Development Corp. He serves as a Director of American Progressive. He serves on the boards of the Visiting Nurse Association of America, the National Hispanic Council on Aging Business Advisory Board and the Dean's Council American University School of Public Affairs and Administration.

Wendy Netter Epstein

Visiting Associate Professor of Law, University of Chicago Law School; Faculty Director, Jaharis Health Law Institute, DePaul College of Law

Wendy Netter Epstein is currently a Visiting Associate Professor at the University of Chicago Law School where she teaches Health Law & Policy. Professor Epstein is also an Associate Professor at the DePaul University College of Law and the Faculty Director of DePaul's Jaharis Health Law Institute. Her teaching and research interests focus on health care law and policy, contracts, and commercial law. Her scholarship bridges the divide between theory and practice and utilizes an interdisciplinary approach. She has recently explored topics such as the unnecessary care problem and the role of payors, lack of price transparency and the contract law implications, and the need to nudge flawed patient decision-making. In general, Professor Epstein's scholarship focuses on mismatches between theory and practice. Her work has most recently appeared or is forthcoming in the Southern California Law Review; Yale Journal of Health Policy, Law, and Ethics; Emory Law Journal; Washington Law Review; Cardozo Law Review; and Case Western Reserve Law Review. Follow on Twitter: @ProfWEpstein

Jessica Mantel

Associate Professor, Co-Director, Health Law and Policy Institute, University of Houston Law Center

Jessica Lind Mantel is an Associate Professor at the University of Houston Law Center, where she serves as the Co-Director of their Health Law & Policy Institute. She joined the ranks of academia after eight years of service with two government agencies in Washington, D.C. She worked most recently as a senior attorney in the Office of the General Counsel for the Department of Health and Human Services. In that position she advised Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services on legal issues dealing with Medicare matters, including implementation of the prescription drug benefit, hospital payments, incentive payments for the adoption of electronic health records, and health care reform. She previously worked as a health policy analyst in the Government Accountability Office evaluating Medicare payment issues. Her research interests include the impact of various legislative and regulatory schemes on the physician-patient relationship and the health care delivery system, and the allocation of limited health care resources. In 1997, Mantel received both her J.D. from the University of Michigan Law School and an M.P.P. from the University of Michigan School of Public Policy. She also holds a B.A. in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania.

Asha Scielzo

Senior Fellow, Health Law and Policy Program, American University Washington College of Law

Asha Scielzo serves as AU Washington College of Law's Senior Fellow for Health Law and Policy and as an Adjunct Professor of Law. She founded and manages the annual WCL National Health Law Writing Competition and directs the annual Health Law and Policy Summer Institute. She also teaches a wide range of courses on the subjects of health care fraud and abuse, compliance, governance, and transactions. As a practitioner, she concentrated her practice on health care regulatory counseling, with significant expertise in fraud and abuse and reimbursement considerations and their impact on day-to-day operations, corporate compliance and governance, and transactions. Professor Scielzo also serves on the Board of Directors of the American Health Lawyers Association (AHLA). As Co-Chair of AHLA's Diversity+Inclusion Council, Professor Scielzo works to advance and promote diverse and inclusive participation within AHLA and more broadly across the health law bar. From 2012 - 2016 she also had the privilege of chairing AHLA's annual Fundamentals of Health Law Conference.

CONCURRENT SESSION 6B

HEALTH CARE REFORM: IMPLICATIONS FOR PUBLIC HEALTH

Susan Polan

Associate Executive Director, Public Affairs and Advocacy, American Public Health Association

Susan L. Polan, PhD, is associate executive director for public affairs and advocacy with the American Public Health Association. She oversees the Association's departments of government relations and affiliate affairs, communications and membership. She is responsible for planning and directing APHA's legislative, regulatory and legal activities, communicating those initiatives and Association news to members and the public, and overseeing membership recruitment and retention and Affiliate, Caucus and Section relations. Prior to joining APHA, Polan worked as the director of government relations at the Trust for America's Health, a public health advocacy organization. There, she served as lead staff lobbyist to Congress, federal agencies and the administration on priority issues, including public health infrastructure development, chronic disease prevention and where she advocated for new funding for a nationwide health tracking network.

Lance Gable

Associate Professor of Law, Wayne State University Law School

Lance Gable, an internationally known expert on public health law and bioethics, served as interim dean of Wayne Law from September 2016 to August 2017. A member of the Law School faculty since 2006, he also served as associate dean from June 2014 until his appointment as interim dean in 2016. Prior to that, he was interim associate dean since June 2013. He teaches courses on Public Health Law, Bioethics and the Law, Torts and other health law subjects. His research addresses the overlap among law, policy, ethics, health and science. He has published journal articles on a diverse array of topics, including public health law, ethics and policy; international human rights; bioterrorism and emergency preparedness; mental health; research ethics; and information privacy. He is also co-editor and co-author respectively of two books: Research with High Risk Populations: Balancing Science, Ethics and the Law and Legal Aspects of HIV/AIDS: A Guide for Policy and Law Reform. Gable has helped the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services develop ethical guidelines for the allocation of scarce medical resources during public health emergencies. He has helped develop course materials for the World Health Organization Diploma in International Human Rights and Mental Health and has worked as a human rights consultant for the Pan American Health Organization. Follow on Twitter: @ProfessorLGable

Wendy E. Parmet

Matthews Distinguished University Professor of Law, Director of the Center for Health Policy and Law and Associate Dean for Interdisciplinary Education and Research Support, Northeastern University School of Law

Professor Parmet, a leading expert on health, disability and public health law, directs the law school's Center for Health Policy and Law as well as its JD/MPH programs. She also holds a joint appointment with Northeastern University's School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs in recognition of her national leadership in interdisciplinary thinking and problem solving on issues related to health care. In addition, she is co-editor of the law school's SSRN online publications, Human Rights and the Global Economy and the Northeastern University School of Law Public Law and Legal Theory Paper Series. In 2016, Professor Parmet was honored with the prestigious Jay Healey Health Law Teachers Award by the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics (ASLME) at its annual conference. Professor Parmet has published articles on public health, bioethics, discrimination, health law and AIDS law. She is co-author of The Health of Newcomers: Immigration, Health Policy, and the Case for Global Solidarity (NYU Press, 2016), Ethical Health Care (Prentice Hall, 2005) and Debates on U.S. Health Care (Sage Press, 2012), and author of Populations, Public Health, and the Law (Georgetown University Press, 2009).

Karen Porter

Associate Professor of Clinical Law, Brooklyn Law School

Karen Porter is Associate Professor of Clinical Law and Executive Director of Brooklyn Law School's Center for Health, Science and Public Policy. She also serves as faculty director for the law school's health law externship program. She has taught courses at Washington University Law School in St. Louis, Seton Hall Law School, Quinnipiac Law School and the Graduate Program in Health Advocacy at Sarah Lawrence College. Professor Porter has a particular interest in public health law, bioethics and AIDS policy. Prior to teaching Prof. Porter served as staff counsel and senior policy analyst to the National Commission on AIDS. She also held a post-doctoral fellowship at Montefiore Medical Center/The Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Department of Epidemiology and Social Medicine, Division of Bioethics.

The highlight of the fellowship was the opportunity to participate in the on-site interdisciplinary clinical consultation service that provided analysis and recommendations on ethical issues related to patient care. In 2014, Governor Andrew Cuomo appointed her to the New York State Task Force on Life and the Law. The Task Force assists New York State in developing law and public policy on issues related to medicine and ethics.

Kim Blankenship

Director Center on Health, Risk, and Society, Professor, Department of Sociology, American University

Kim M. Blankenship, PhD, is Professor in the Department of Sociology and Director of the Center on Health, Risk and Society at American University and Director of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Core of the District of Columbia Center for AIDS Research. She previously served on the faculty of Sociology at Duke University and at the Duke Global Health Institute and on the faculty at Yale University, where she was also Associate Director of the Center for Interdisciplinary Research on AIDS. Research and publications focus on the social determinants of health and structural interventions to address them. She has received funding from NIDA, NIMH, CDC, and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Current research includes a mixed methods study of the implementation and impact of community mobilization interventions for HIV prevention in female sex workers in India and a mixed methods, longitudinal study of the impact of criminal justice involvement on HIV related risk of re-entrants and their sexual partners and its association with race disparities in HIV/AIDS.